NOTIFICATIONS.

No. 597P.H.—29th March 1944.—Rai S. N. Roy Bahadur, B.E., A.M.I.E. (Ind.), Executive Engineer, Eastern Division, Public Health, is temporarily appointed to act as Chief Engineer, Public Health, Bengal, with effect from 1st April 1944, until further order.

Mymensingh.—No. 595P.H.—29th March 1944.—Whereas the Governor is satisfied that the municipalities of Mymensingh, Muktagacha, Gouripur, Jamalpur, Sherpur, Kishoreganj, Bajitpur, Netrakona and Tangail in the district of Mymensingh are threatened with an outbreak of cholera:

Now, therefore, in exercise of the power conferred by section 2A, read with sub-section (1) of section 2 of the Epidemic Diseases Act, 1897 (Act III of 1897), the Governor is pleased to prescribe the following temporary regulations for the prevention and control of cholera, and for the medical inspection, isolation, observation and surveillance of persons suffering from, or suspected of being infected with, cholera in those municipalities, for a period of three months:—

Temporary regulations for the prevention and control of cholera.

1. In these regulations, unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context:—

(a) "Health Officer" means the Health Officer of the municipality;

(b) "Sanitary Inspector" means a Sanitary Inspector appointed by the municipality;

(c) "suspected cholera" means any disease accompanied by vomiting and diarrhœa;

(d) "patient" means a person suffering from or suspected to be suffering from cholera;

(e) "medical practitioner" means any person practising the medical profession.

2. Whenever any land is held jointly by two or more persons, whether as owners or occupiers of that land, such persons shall be held jointly and severally liable for carrying out any measure ordered in a notice under these regulations, and the names of any one or more of such joint-holders may be entered upon such notice at the discretion of the Health Officer or a Sanitary Inspector and the Health Officer or a Sanitary Inspector shall not be bound to enter the names of all the joint-holders in the notice.

Notices.

3. If in any case the Health Officer or a Sanitary Inspector considers that the issue of a notice under these regulations is likely to lead to such an amount of delay as might facilitate the spread of cholera he may forthwith take such steps as he may think fit for carrying out the work, and shall thereafter, as soon as possible, issue a notice on the person concerned stating the reason why such work has been carried out.

4. If any measure which the Health Officer or a Sanitary Inspector has, by a notice issued under these regulations, required to be carried out, be not carried out to his satisfaction within the time stated in the notice the Health Officer or a Sanitary Inspector shall be entitled to carry out the measure.

Costs and compensation.

5. (1) All expenses incurred in carrying out any work in pursuance of an order issued under these regulations shall be paid by the municipality except in any case where the order directs a person to carry out any work in relation to property in his possession, in which case the expenses shall be paid by that person:

Provided that where the conditions, which led the Health Officer or a Sanitary Inspector to pass such an order, are not attributable to any act or default of the persons in possession of the property, the municipality may pay to such person the whole or a part of expenses incurred by him in carrying out the order.

(2) The municipality may recover all expenses incurred by the Health Officer or a Sanitary Inspector in carrying out the measure under regulation 4 from the person or persons to whom the notice was originally issued.

6. The municipality shall pay adequate compensation to any person who has sustained substantial loss or damage by reason of anything done under these regulations:

Provided that no person shall receive any compensation for anything done or suffered under these regulations, if he has failed to carry out an order issued under these regulations within the time specified in the order and to the satisfaction of the Health Officer or a Sanitary Inspector.

He shall not direct the patient to be removed from the house unless it is in his opinion impossible to make proper arrangements for his isolation therein.

12. The Health Officer or a Sanitary Inspector may order that any person, who has in his opinion been exposed to infection from cholera, shall take such drugs in such quantities as may be specified by the Health Officer or a Sanitary Inspector or shall submit himself to anti-cholera inoculation within a time to be specified in the order.

13. No person shall enter any place wherein a patient is isolated under regulation 11 without the permission of the Health Officer or a Sanitary Inspector.

14. The municipality shall provide free of charge suitable places, with necessary attendants, medicine, diet and other necessaries for persons isolated under regulation 11: Provided that a private individual may provide places certified by the Health Officer or a Sanitary Inspector as being fit for the purpose of such isolation.

14A. If it is not possible for the municipal commissioners to provide suitable places with necessary attendants, diet and other necessaries for isolation of the patient or if satisfactory arrangement for such isolation is not also possible in the house where the patient is staying, the patient shall be sent, under proper sanitary precautions, to the hospital within or outside the nearest municipality where there is suitable arrangement for isolation.

15. No person, who is or has been suffering from cholera, shall leave the place where he has been staying until he has received from the Health Officer or a Sanitary Inspector written permission to do so.

18. The Health Officer or a Sanitary Inspector may forbid any person who has been a patient or who has, to his knowledge, been in contact with a patient, to act as vendor of any article for such period as may be specified in the order.

18A. No person shall carry or permit to be carried in a public conveyance a patient except in the case where a patient is carried with proper precautions to a hospital.

19. No person shall sell any article which has been in contact with a patient until it has been disinfected to the satisfaction of the Health Officer or a Sanitary Inspector.

19A. No person shall expose in any street, shop, bazar or any public place any clothing, bedding or other article which has been in contact with a patient or shall cause or suffer such articles to be carried in any public conveyance, but nothing in this regulation shall apply to a person who transmits with proper precautions against spreading the disease any such article for the purpose of having the same disinfected.

19B. No person shall carry or permit to be carried in a public conveyance the dead body of any person who has died of cholera without the previous written permission of the Health Officer or a Sanitary Inspector, and without taking proper precautions against spreading the said disease.

20. (1) When the Health Officer or a Sanitary Inspector is of opinion that the water in any well, tank, pool or other possible source of water-supply is contaminated or is likely to be contaminated, he may at once take such steps as he deems necessary to close such well, tank, pool or other source of water-supply, or may require the owner or occupier of land upon which such well, tank, pool or source of water-supply is situated, to take steps to close the same to the satisfaction of the Health Officer or the Sanitary Inspector, as the case may be, within such time as may be specified in the order.

(2) The Health Officer or a Sanitary Inspector may require such owner or occupier to keep closed during such a period as shall be specified in the order any well, tank, pool or other sources of water-supply closed under paragraph (1) of this regulation.

The Health Officer or a Sanitary Inspector may, by an order published at such places as he may think fit, set apart any well, tank, part of a river, stream or channel not being private property, or being private property with the consent of the owner, for the supply of water for drinking or culinary purposes and may prohibit therein or within a distance therefrom to be stated in the order all bathing, washing of clothes or animals, or other acts calculated to pollute the water; and may similarly set apart any well, tank, part of a river, stream or channel for the purpose of bathing or for the purpose of washing animals or clothes or for any other purpose connected with the health and cleanliness of the people using such water-supply.

24. The Health Officer or a Sanitary Inspector may prohibit persons from easing themselves, or throwing, depositing or discharging any rubbish, sewage or offensive matter, into any well, tank, pool or other source of water-supply, which is used by the public, or within such a distance from such well, tank, pool or source of water-supply as he may fix.

29. The Health Officer or a Sanitary Inspector may require the owner or occupier of any land to clear and remove, within the period specified in the order, any vegetation upon such land the existence of which in the opinion of the said officer or inspector conduces to the committing or nuisances upon such land.

or otherwise which is to be or may be received either before or after death either by the person paying the premium or by any other person and which is not the sum actually assured."

5. Insertion of new section 18A in Act XI of 1922.—After section 18 of the said Act, the following section shall be inserted, namely:—

"18A. Advance payment of tax.—(1) (a) In the case of income in respect of which provision is not made under section 18 for deduction of income-tax at the time of payment, the Income-tax Officer may, on or after the 1st day of April in any financial year, by order in writing, require an assessee to pay quarterly to the credit of the Central Government on the 15th day of June, 15th day of September, 15th day of December and 15th day of March in that year, respectively, an amount equal to one-quarter of the income-tax and super-tax payable on so much of such income as is included in his total income of the latest previous year in respect of which he has been assessed. Such income-tax and super-tax shall be calculated at the rates in force for the financial year in which he is required to pay the tax, and shall bear to the total amount of income-tax and super-tax so calculated on the said total income the same proportion as the amount of such inclusions bears to his total income or, in cases where under the provisions of sub-section (2) of section 17 both income-tax and super-tax or super-tax are chargeable with reference to the total world income, shall bear to the total amount of income-tax and super-tax which would have been payable on his total world income of the said previous year had it been his total income the same proportion as the amount of such inclusions bears to his total world income:

Provided that, if the assessee is a partner of a registered firm and an assessment of the firm has been completed for a previous year later than that for which the assessee's last assessment has been completed, his share in the profits of the firm shall, for the purposes of this sub-section, be included in his total income on the basis of the latest assessment of the firm:

Provided further that, if after the making of an order by the Income-tax Officer and before the 15th day of February of the financial year an assessment of the assessee or of the registered firm of which he is a partner is completed in respect of a previous year later than that referred to in the order of the Income-tax Officer, the Income-tax Officer may make an amended order requiring the assessee to pay in one instalment on the specified date, or in equal instalments on the specified dates if more than one, falling after the date of the amended order, the tax computed on the revised basis as reduced by the amount, if any, paid in accordance with the original order; but if the amount already paid exceeds the tax determined on the revised basis, the excess shall be refunded.

(b) If the notice of demand issued under section 29 in pursuance of the order under clause (a) of this sub-section is served after any of the dates on which the instalments specified therein are payable, the tax shall be payable in equal instalments on each of such of those dates as fall after the date of the service of the notice of demand, or in one sum on the 15th day of March if the notice is served after the 15th day of December.

(2) If any assessee who is required to pay tax by an order under sub-section (1) estimates at any time before the last instalment is due that the part of his income to which that sub-section applies for the period which would be the previous year for an assessment for the year next following is less than the income on which he is required to pay tax and accordingly wishes to pay an amount less than the amount which he is so required to pay, he may send to the Income-tax Officer an estimate of the tax payable by him calculated in the manner laid down in sub-section (1) on that part of his income for such period, and shall pay such smaller instalments as accord with such estimate:

Provided that the assessee may send a revised estimate of the tax payable by him before any of the instalments payable under sub-section (1) becomes due and adjust any excess or deficiency in respect of any instalment already paid in a subsequent instalment or in subsequent instalments.

(3) Any person who has not hitherto been assessed, and any person who has not been served with a notice under section 29 in pursuance of an order under sub-section (1), shall, before the 15th day of March in each financial year, if his total income, or, in cases to which sub-section (1) of section 17 applies, his total world income, of the period which would be the previous year for an assessment for the financial year next following is likely to exceed the maximum amount not chargeable to income-tax under the Finance Act in force during the first-mentioned financial year, send to the Income-tax Officer an estimate of the tax payable by him on that part of his income to which the provisions of section 18 do not apply of the said previous year calculated in the manner laid down in sub-section (1), and shall pay the amount, on such of the dates specified in that sub-section as have not expired, by instalments which may be revised according to the proviso to sub-section (2).

(4) Where part of the income to which sub-section (1), (2) or (3) applies consists of any income of the nature of commission which is receivable periodically and is not received or adjusted by the payer in the assessee's account before any of the quarterly instalments of tax become due, he may defer payment of tax on that part of his income to the date on which such income would be normally received or adjusted and if he does so he shall communicate to the Income-tax Officer the date to which such payment is deferred:

Provided that, if the tax of which the payment is deferred is not paid within fifteen days of the date on which such income or part thereof is received or adjusted by the payer in the assessee's account, the tax shall be payable with six per cent. simple interest per annum from the date of such receipt or adjustment to the date of payment of the tax.

(5) The Central Government shall pay on any amount paid under this section simple interest at two per cent. per annum from the date of payment to the date of the assessment (hereinafter called the 'regular assessment') made under section 23 of the income, profits and gains of the previous year for an assessment for the year next following the year in which the amount was payable.

(6) Where in any year an assessee has paid tax under sub-section (2) or sub-section (3) on the basis of his own estimate, and the tax so paid is less than eighty per cent. of the tax determined on the basis of the regular assessment, so far as such tax relates to income to which the provisions of section 18 do not apply and so far as it is not due to variations in the rates of tax made by the Finance Act in operation in the year for which the regular assessment is made, simple interest at the rate of six per cent. per annum from the 1st day of January in the financial year in which the tax was paid up to the date of the said regular assessment shall be payable by the assessee upon the amount by which the tax so paid falls short of the said eighty per cent:

Provided that, where as a result of an appeal under section 31 or section 33 or of a revision under section 33A or of a reference to the High Court under section 66, the amount on which interest was payable under this sub-section has been reduced the interest shall be reduced accordingly and the excess interest paid, if any, shall be refunded together with the amount of income-tax that is refundable:

Provided further that, where a business, profession or vocation is newly set up and is assessable on the income, profits and gains of its first previous year in the financial year following that in which it is set up, the interest payable shall be computed from the 1st day of April of the said financial year.

(7) Where, on making the regular assessment, the Income-tax Officer finds that any assessee has—

(a) under sub-section (2) or sub-section (3) underestimated the tax payable by him and thereby reduced the amount payable in any of the first three instalments, or

(b) under sub-section (4) wrongly deferred the payment of tax on a part of his income, he may direct that the assessee shall pay simple interest at six per cent. per annum, in the case referred to in clause (a) for the period during which the payment was deficient on the difference between the amount paid in each such instalment and the amount which should have been paid having regard to the aggregate tax actually paid under this section during the year, and in the case referred to in clause (b) for the period during which the payment of tax was wrongly deferred on the amount of which the payment was so deferred:

Provided that for the purposes of this sub-section any instalment due before the expiry of six months from the commencement of the previous year in respect of which it is to be paid shall be deemed to have become due fifteen days after the expiry of the said six months.

(8) Where, on making the regular assessment, the Income-tax Officer finds that no payment of tax has been made in accordance with the foregoing provisions of this section, interest calculated in the manner laid down in sub-section (6) shall be added to the tax as determined on the basis of the regular assessment.

(9) If the Income-tax Officer, in the course of any proceedings in connection with the regular assessment, is satisfied that any assessee—

(a) has furnished under sub-section (2) or sub-section (3) estimates of the tax payable by him which he knew or had reason to believe to be untrue, or

(b) has without reasonable cause failed to comply with the provisions of sub-section (3), the assessee shall be deemed, in the case referred to in clause (a), to have deliberately furnished inaccurate particulars of his income, and in the case referred to in clause (b), to have failed to furnish the return of his total income; and the provisions of section 28, so far as may be, shall apply accordingly:

Provided that the amount of penalty leviable shall, in the case referred to in clause (a), be a sum not exceeding one-and-a-half times the amount by which the tax actually paid during the year under the provisions of this section falls short of the tax that should have been paid by the assessee under sub-section (1) or eighty per cent. of the tax determined on the basis of the regular assessment as modified in the manner provided in sub-section (6), whichever is the less, and, in the case referred to in clause (b), one-and-a-half times the said eighty per cent.

(10) (a) If any assessee does not pay on the specified dates any instalment of tax that he is required to pay under sub-section (1) and does not, before the date on which any such instalment as is not paid becomes due, send under sub-section (2) an estimate or a revised estimate of the tax payable by him, he shall be deemed to be an assessee in default in respect of such instalment or instalments.

(b) If any assessee has sent under sub-section (2) or sub-section (3) an estimate or a revised estimate of the tax payable by him, but does not pay any instalment in accordance therewith on the date or dates specified in sub-section (1), he shall be deemed to be an assessee in default in respect of such instalment or instalments:

Provided that the assessee shall not, under clause (a) or (b), be deemed to be in default in respect of any amount of which the payment is deferred under sub-section (4) until after the date communicated by him to the Income-tax Officer under that sub-section.

(11) Any sum other than a penalty or interest paid by or recovered from an assessee in pursuance of the provisions of this section shall be treated as a payment of tax in respect of the income of the period which would be the previous year for an assessment for the financial year next following the year in which it was payable, and credit therefor shall be given to the assessee in the regular assessment."

6. Amendment of section 24, Act XI of 1922.—In section 24 of the said Act,—

(a) in sub-section (1), in the existing proviso, after the word "Provided" the word "further" shall be inserted, and before that proviso the following proviso shall be inserted, namely:—

(c) in clause (ii) of rule 5, after the words "but excludes profits on the realization of securities" the words "or other assets" shall be added.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

The main object of this Bill is to provide (in clause 5) for advance payments of tax on income which is not liable to deduction of tax at source under section 18 of the Indian Income-tax Act, 1922. The income mainly affected will be income from property and from business, profession or vocation. The other provisions of the Bill are designed either to correct certain defects in the Act or to give relief to the tax-payer. The clauses are explained in the notes below.

NEW DELHI;
The 29th February, 1944.

NOTES ON CLAUSES.

Clause 2.—The intention in enacting Explanation 2 to sub-section (1) of section 7 was to subject to tax payments from unrecognised Provident Funds and it was not anticipated that such payments would be made before the termination of the employment. It has since been found that in certain cases such payments are made before the termination of the employment. The amendment is designed to prevent such payments from escaping tax.

Clause 3.—Section 14 (1) is intended to grant exemption to an assessee in respect of any sum received by him as a member of a Hindu undivided family where such sum is included in the income of the family. Cases have, however, arisen where a sum received by a member has been held to be exempt under this sub-section even though it does not form part of the income of the family. The amendment provides for its taxation in the hands of the recipient if it is not taxable in the hands of the family.

Clause 4.—This amendment is designed to put a stop to a tax-evasion device which mainly takes the form of a one-year policy. The amendment follows the United Kingdom law.

Clause 5.—The scheme in this clause for quarterly advance payments of tax is based on an option given to the assessee to pay tax either on his last assessed income or on his own estimate. The year in respect of which tax is to be estimated is the assessee's own "previous year" for the next year's assessment. Thus if his year ends on the 30th September, he is to estimate in 1944-45 and pay in that year the tax on his estimated income for the year ending 30th September, 1944 and when the assessment for 1945-46 comes to be made on the income of his year ending 30th September, 1944 he will be credited with the advance tax paid in 1944-45, whether it is paid on the basis of his last assessed income or on the basis of his own estimate. Simple interest at 2 per cent. per annum will be paid by Government on these advance payments and penal interest at 6 per cent. will be payable by the assessee on the amount by which the payments made on the basis of his own estimate fall short of 80 per cent. of the tax determined on regular assessment. No penal interest is imposable where the assessee chooses to pay on the basis of his last assessed income. To secure compliance with the scheme, the provisions of section 28 are imported [sub-clause (9)] for the purpose of imposing penalties for making untrue estimates or for failing to make an estimate in certain cases. In addition it is provided [sub-clause (10)] that if an assessee fails to pay the due instalments he shall be treated as in default and the provisions of section 46 will then apply.

Clause 6.—Whereas profits which accrue and arise in Indian States are exempt under sub-section (2) (c) of section 14, corresponding losses can be set off against British Indian income or carried forward under section 24. The amendments provide that such losses can only be set off or carried forward against the corresponding exempt profits.

Clause 7.—This amendment merely brings sub-section (1) into line with sub-section (3) as amended by the addition of the proviso to sub-sections (3) and (4) made by the Indian Income-tax (Amendment) Act, 1941 (XXIII of 1941). As sub-section (1) stands it does not permit of an assessment in the year of discontinuance on businesses assessed under the 1918 Act but to which the provisions of sub-section (3) are not applicable by virtue of the aforesaid proviso.

Clause 8.—This amendment provides for including in the notice of demand the penal interest imposed under the provisions of clause 5.

Clauses 9 and 10.—These clauses provide for a right of appeal against a refusal or a cancellation of registration under section 23 (4) and also in the case of a person denying his liability to deduct tax under the provisions of section 18 (3A), (3B) or (3C).

Clause 11.—This clause is designed to give to the Appellate Tribunal the power given to the Appellate Assistant Commissioner by section 31(4).

Clause 12.—This amendment provides for the recovery of penal interest imposed under the provisions of clause 5.

Clause 13.—This amendment is necessary to prevent the proviso to sub-sections (3) and (4) of section 25 from being nullified by the provision in section 56 that the total income for the purposes of super-tax shall be the total income as assessed for the purposes of income-tax.

Clause 14.—Sub-clause (a) proposes an increase in the amounts allowable to Life Insurance Companies for management expenses.

Sub-clause (b).—This amendment is designed to secure that only income-tax and not super-tax shall not be paid on the interest on tax-free securities. The amendment also secures the inclusion of the interest in the surplus.

Sub-clause (c).—Profits on the realisation of securities are excluded by the provisions of rule 5(ii) from "gross external incomings". It is proposed to extend this provisions so as to exclude also profits on the realisation of other assets.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

Secondary Education in Bengal is at present not subject to any unified control. There is no authority with power to regulate development according to a planned scheme or to insist upon certain standards being maintained. Grants are given to certain schools but not to others. The University of Calcutta, which is responsible for the standard of the Matriculation Examination, has authority over the Matriculation Classes of recognized schools but upon the non-Matriculation Classes in these schools it has merely a certain influence. The expansion of education during the last thirty years has been extremely rapid and because of the lack of any single directing authority has been upon an unplanned basis. All educationists have recognised for over twenty years that reform was essential and in this view many attempts were made in the past to establish a Board of Secondary Education. These have hitherto failed for various reasons. The development of Secondary Education can no longer be allowed to remain uncontrolled and to drift indefinitely and aimlessly.

The present Bill proposes to establish one Board with authority over Secondary Schools of all types throughout the Province. This authority will have almost complete power and, it is hoped, will be able to develop Secondary Education upon sound lines. The Board itself is to be a large body representative of all interests and is to be responsible in general for the framing of policy and the determination of ideals. The Executive Council which contains a strong representation of expert educationists is to be responsible for the actual administration and executive work. Special Committees with statutory powers are to be set up to safeguard the interests of various communities and special types of education.

1. Subscriptions (Rule 3).—(1) Before proceeding on extraordinary leave without leave salary or on leave with leave salary under Fundamental Rule 88, the subscriber should intimate to the Accountant-General, Bengal, whether he wishes to subscribe during such leave. No alteration will be permissible in the option so exercised for the period of the leave. NOTICE.

WITH reference to the Bengal Civil Service (Judicial) Recruitment Rules, 1941, it is hereby notified that 10 appointments to the Service will be made during the current year. In view of appointments already made and in accordance with the Bengal Communal Ratio Rules, 5 of the appointments will be reserved for Muslims, 2 for members of Scheduled Castes and 3 for non-Muslims, provided that suitable candidates from these communities are available.

2. As the quota fixed for Assam has already been filled, there will be no recruitment of any candidate from Assam to any of these 10 posts.

3. A candidate should be under 27 years of age on the 1st January 1944 and also be either a graduate in Law of some statutory university or a Barrister or a member of the Factulty of Advocates in Scotland or an Advocate or an Attorney on the rolls of the High Court in Calcutta.

5. A number of candidates considered prima facie suitable will be called upon to appear before a Medical Board for a certificate of their fitness for Government Service in Form A of Schedule IV of the Bengal Provincial Services Recruitment Rules; an order to appear before the Medical Board must not, however, be understood to mean that the candidate, if found fit, will necessarily receive an appointment as the number of candidates who will be summoned for medical examination will be in excess of the total number of vacancies, and the question of his appointment will depend upon the results of the medical examination taken as a whole; intending candidates are advised before they apply for recruitment to the Service to satisfy themselves that they are likely to qualify as physically fit, for experience has shown that a considerable number of the candidates are rejected by the Medical Board as unfit.

6. The Commission will only acknowledge receipt of an application or reply to an enquiry about an application if a stamped envelope accompanies the enquiry or request for acknowledgment. The Commission are unable to give any indication of what has been their recommendation to Government in respect of an application received by them.

BENGAL LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL DEPARTMENT.

NOTIFICATION.

No. 440L.C.—27th March 1944.—In pursuance of the provisions of rule 51 of the Bengal Legislative Council Procedure Rules, the following Bill which was introduced in the Bengal Legislative Council on the 17th March 1944, is hereby published for general information together with the Statement of Objects and Reasons annexed thereto.

THE BENGAL ANTI-DOWRY BILL, 1944.

A

to abolish the receipt of dowry in connection with Hindu marriages.

WHEREAS it is expedient to abolish the practice of receiving dowry in connection with Hindu marriages;

It is hereby enacted as follows:—

Short title, extent and commencement.

1. (1) This Act may be called the Bengal Anti-Dowry Act, 1944.

(2) It extends to the whole of Bengal.

(3) It shall come into force on such date as the Provincial Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, appoint.

Definitions.

2. In this Act, unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context—

(1) "dowry" means anything in money or in kind,—

(a) paid by the father or guardian or any relative of a bride, or by any person on behalf of a bride, to a bridegroom or the father or guardian or any relative of a bridegroom, or

(b) paid by a bridegroom or the father or guardian or any relative of a bridegroom, or by any person on behalf of a bridegroom, to the father or guardian or any relative of a bride, or

(c) displayed before the gaze of the visitors and guests attending the marriage ceremony

in consideration of any marriage between Hindus, whether such payment is made before or during the solemnization of the marriage, but does not include any gift in money or in kind made voluntarily by and to any of the persons aforementioned after the solemnization of the marriage or in conformity with the absolutely necessary religious ceremony which forms part of the solemnization of the marriage;

(2) "marriage" means a contract for the union of a male person and a female person, and includes a ceremony for such union recognized by Hindu religion.

Prohibition of payment or receipt of dowry.

3. No person, being the father or guardian or relative of a bride, or on behalf of a bride, or being a bridegroom or the father or guardian or relative of a bridegroom, or on behalf of a bridegroom, shall receive a dowry,

The Bengal Anti-Dowry Bill, 1944.

(Clauses 4—6.)

Penalties. 4. Whoever, in contravention of the provisions of section 3, receives a dowry, shall on conviction be punishable with simple imprisonment which may extend to one month, or with fine which may extend to one thousand rupees, or with both.

Procedure. 5. (1) No Magistrate other than a Presidency Magistrate or a Magistrate of the first class shall try an offence punishable under section 4.

(2) An offence punishable under section 4 shall be non-cognizable, and shall be triable in accordance with the procedure provided in the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, for the trial of summons cases.

(3) No Magistrate shall take cognizance of an offence punishable under section 4 unless the complainant has deposited in the Government Treasury the sum of one hundred rupees, except in cases where the complainant is the actual party who paid the dowry or a bona fide social welfare Association.

(4) No Magistrate shall proceed to try an offence punishable under section 4 until the accused has been afforded an opportunity of showing cause before the Court against his prosecution.

(5) If, at any time after taking cognizance of an offence punishable under section 4, a Magistrate is satisfied that the complaint is false and either frivolous or vexatious, he shall, for reasons to be recorded by him in writing, direct that the whole of the sum deposited by the complainant under sub-section (3) be forfeited and may direct the complainant to pay to the accused such sum by way of compensation as the Magistrate thinks fit.

Appeal. 6. Notwithstanding anything contained in any other law for the time being in force, an appeal shall lie respectively to the High Court or the Sessions Judge from any order made under section 5 by a Presidency Magistrate or a Magistrate of the first class.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

The dowry or pana system in connection with a marriage agreement is really obnoxious and is a standing disgrace to a society in which it is prevalent. Not only Snehalatas are victims to this pernicious practice but many cultivator or artisan classes of Bengal are going to be extinct under the pressure of the all-levelling steel roller of kannya pana or bride-money; whatever these people lay by with their sweated labour they lose in contracting costly marriages from their point of view and often become burdened with mortgages and pledges which they can never redeem. All the brothers of a family in many cases cannot marry and if a wife is dead he cannot dream of a second marriage. Widow remarriages being still unknown utter ruin stares these classes in the face. This evil custom is on the other hand spreading its baneful effects on the society of our sister community of common origin, namely, the Muslim community of Bengal. The poor Muslim peasantry are constantly complaining that their society is also imitating this ruinous custom from their Hindu brothers. Like infectious epidemics of Bengal this pestilential custom is eating into the vitals of the society and is no respecter of persons, communities or classes. It requires a strong hand to put it down. When society loses its soul it requires a lashing of the severest nature to bring it round to its sense from the stupor and callousness of ages. I have the greatest respect for the opinion of those who think that social conscience should be roused by educating public opinion and bringing moral pressure thereon. But this also should be borne in mind that social legislation often helps such education wonderfully and beyond all expectations. Social propaganda and social education on the lines generally suggested by the social reformers and orthodox social workers should not be minimised and discouraged, but the dog-in-the-manger policy in social reforms must be once for all abandoned. The do-nothing fellows who want to burke all social legislations on the plea that reforms must come from within should now read the signs of the times that unless useful reforms are welcome in the social structure which has rusted, the waves of all devouring so-called socialistic ideas will sweep away many of their much beloved social customs of long-standing usefulness before it is too late to mend with the speed of an eastern typhoon. Has not the Sārda Act with all its faults helped to raise the marriageable age of a bride? Pernicious customs like the sati and the throwing of babies into the junction of the Ganges and the sea were stopped by legislation. Any how and at any cost this evil custom must be eradicated from the social life. Attacks may be launched from all possible manner and all possible sides. With this end in view and with the fervent hope that my brother legislators will dispassionately help to place this social welfare measure on the State Book at an early date, this Bill is introduced.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

The purpose of this amending Bill is to add a provision for the registration of the notice of pending suits or proceedings under the Indian Registration Act, 1908, with necessary particulars of such suit or proceeding in order to enable the persons interested in the immoveable property in question to easily ascertain if any suit or proceeding is pending against such property.

No. 444L.C.—27th March 1944.—In pursuance of the provisions of rule 51 of the Bengal Legislative Council Procedure Rules, the following Bill which was introduced in the Bengal Legislative Council on the 17th March 1944, is hereby published for general information together with the Statement of Objects and Reasons annexed thereto.

THE BENGAL LAND-REVENUE SALES AND THE BENGAL TENANCY (AMENDMENT) BILL, 1944.

A BILL

further to amend the Bengal Land-revenue Sales Act, 1859, and the Bengal Tenancy Act, 1885.

WHEREAS it is expedient further to amend the Bengal Land-revenue Sales Act, 1859, and the Bengal Tenancy Act, 1885, for the purpose and in the manner hereinafter appearing;

It is hereby enacted as follows :—

1. This Act may be called the Bengal Land-revenue Sales and the Bengal Tenancy (Amendment) Act, 1944.

2. In the fourth exception of section 37 of the Bengal Land-revenue Sales Act, 1859, after the words "leases of lands whereon dwelling houses" the words "of any nature and of any description" shall be inserted and in the 2nd line after the words "manufactories or" for the word "other" the word "any" shall be substituted.

3. In the first line of clause (c) of section 160 of the Bengal Tenancy Act, 1885, after the words "dwelling houses" the words "of any nature and of any description" shall be inserted and in the second line for the word "other" occurring before the word "permanent" the word "any" shall be substituted.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

In many cases the highest court of the provinces has decided that unless a dwelling house happens to be a pucca structure, the land on which it stands, cannot be protected under section 37 of the Bengal Land-revenue Sales Act, 1859, and section 160 of the Bengal Tenancy Act, 1885. It appears that the original intention of the Legislature was to give protection to dwelling houses by the abovementioned provisions in the said Act. Great hardship and sufferings are caused to persons who lose their dear dwelling houses if they do not happen to be permanent structure. There is a great necessity of an amendment as proposed to give protection to dwelling houses.

No. 446L.C.—27th March 1944.—In pursuance of the provisions of rule 51 of the Bengal Legislative Council Procedure Rules, the following Bill which was introduced in the Bengal Legislative Council on the 17th March 1944, is hereby published for general information together with the Statement of Objects and Reasons annexed thereto.

THE BENGAL PUBLIC DEMANDS RECOVERY (AMENDMENT) BILL, 1944.

A BILL

further to amend the Bengal Public Demands Recovery Act, 1913.

WHEREAS it is expedient further to amend the Bengal Public Demands Recovery Act, 1913, for the purposes and in the manner hereinafter appearing

It is hereby enacted as follows :—

1. This Act may be called the Bengal Public Demands recovery (Amendment) Act, 1944.

2. For rule 9 of the rules under schedule II of the Bengal Public Demands Recovery Act, 1913, hereinafter to be called the said rule and the said schedule, the following shall be substituted as rule 9 :—

"9. Notwithstanding anything hereinbefore and after contained, at the same time, the certificate officer shall also serve a copy of the notice by registered post in the name of the certificate debtor and in case their number be more than five in the name of at least first five certificate debtors. The cost of such notice shall be payable by the certificate debtor and if it is not paid in the period fixed for its payment, it shall be realised from the certificate debtor by any process authorised for realising an arrear of public demand."

3. In sub-rule (2) of rule 46 of the said rules in first line after the words "after notice" the words "by registered post" shall be inserted.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

This simple amendment is proposed to provide for service of notices by registered post on the certificate debtor before their property is sold. Similar amendment has been affected in the Bengal Revenue Sale Act, 1859. Some times it so happens that the certificate debtor does not know about the filing of the certificate or sale of their property through defect in service of notice upon him or for non-service of any notice upon him owing to deceitful conduct of some unscrupulous certificate creditors. Hence there is every necessity of proposed amendment.

No. 4481L.C.—27th March 1944.—In pursuance of the provisions of rule 51 of the Bengal Legislative Council Procedure Rules, the following Bill which was introduced in the Bengal Legislative Council on the 17th March 1944, is hereby published for general information together with the Statement of Objects and Reasons annexed thereto.

THE BENGAL AMUSEMENT HOUSE SMOKE NUISANCE PREVENTION BILL, 1943.

to prevent smoke nuisance in public amusement houses of Bengal.

WHEREAS it is expedient to prevent smoke nuisance in the auditorium of the public amusement houses of Bengal;

It is hereby enacted as follows :—

Short title.

1. (1) This Act may be called the Bengal Amusement House Smoke Nuisance Prevention Act, 1943.

(2) It extends to the whole of Bengal.

(3) It shall come into force on such date as the Provincial Government may by notification in the Calcutta Gazette appoint.

(4) It shall apply in the first instance to Calcutta as defined in clause (11) of section 3 of the Calcutta Municipal Act, 1923, to the suburbs of Calcutta as specified by notification under section 1 of the Calcutta Suburban Police Act, 1866, and to the Municipality of Howrah as constituted under the Bengal Municipal Act, 1932; and thereafter it shall apply to such other areas as the Provincial Government may specify by notification.

Definitions.

2. In this Act, unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context—

(1) "Amusement house" means cinema, theatre or class thereof as the Provincial Government may by notification declare to be a house for public entertainment or amusement.

(2) "Auditorium" means seating accommodation such as orchestra, balcony, stalls, galleries, first, second, third or fourth class seats for audience or persons holding tickets or passes for the purpose of enjoying the performance in the amusement house.

(3) "Notification" means a notification published in the Official Gazette.

Prevention of smoke nuisance in amusement houses.

3. No person attending a theatrical, cinema or any such performance shall smoke biris, tobacco, cigars, cheroots, cigarettes or any other smoking stuff while in the auditorium of an amusement house.

Act where not applicable.

4. Nothing in this Act shall apply to—

(1) Places of private entertainment or amusement, amusement halls attached to residential hotels, clubs, boarding houses, railway clubs, military clubs, docks, wharves, airports and barracks.

(2) Lobbies or reserved places for smoking in a house for public entertainment or amusement.

Penalties.

5. Whoever contravenes the provision of section 3 shall be punishable with fine which for a first offence may extend to Rs. 10 and for a second or any subsequent offence may extend to Rs. 50.

Who may complain.

6. Any person above 18 years of age may lodge a complaint with a Magistrate of competent authority about any violation of this Act.

Procedure.

7. No Court inferior to a Magistrate of the second class shall try an offence punishable under this Act.

Indemnity.

8. No suit, prosecution or legal proceeding whatever shall lie against any person in respect of anything done or intended to be done in good faith under this Act.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

Smoke nuisance of any sort or kind should be attacked by all means possible. The smoke nuisance in a cinema or theatre hall due to indiscriminate smoking of biris, cigars, tobacco, cheroots or cigarettes during the hours of performance can be easily controlled. This Act will not only be a salutary measure of first class importance, but it will be something like preventing cruelty to Indian ladies and children who are not used to smoking by relieving their untold distress and discomfort while attending a performance in a suffocating and nauseating smoke-filled auditorium.

It will not inconvenience the smoking public in the least, as they have got lobbies and verandahs attached to the auditorium where they can satisfy their thirst for smoking during the interval between two halves of each and every performance—one half covering not more than an hour or so—or as often as they like.

This Bill is a very short one and, if enacted, it will bring on beneficial results—firstly, preventing aggravation of "Calcutta throats" and various chest ailments and, secondly, making the amusement house (now a place of distress and torture for many) a really cheerful and enjoyable place worth its name where one would long to stay a bit longer.

3. If any measure which the Health Officer or a Sanitary Inspector has, by a notice issued under regulation 20, required to be carried out, be not carried out to his satisfaction within the time stated in the notices the Health Officer or a Sanitary Inspector shall be entitled to carry out the measure.

Cost and compensation.

4. (1) All expenses incurred in carrying out any work in pursuance of an order issued under these regulations shall be paid by the municipality except in any case where the order directs a person to carry out any work in relation to property in his possession, in which case the expenses shall be paid by such person:

Provided that where the conditions, which led the Health Officer or a Sanitary Inspector to pass such an order, are not attributable to any act or default of the person in possession of the property, the municipality may pay to such person the whole or a part of the expenses incurred by him in carrying out the order.

(2) The municipality may recover all expenses incurred by the Health Officer or a Sanitary Inspector in carrying out the measure under regulation 3 from the person or persons to whom the notice was originally issued.

5. The municipality shall pay adequate compensation to any person who has sustained substantial loss or damage by reason of anything done under these regulations:

Provided that no person shall receive any compensation for anything done or suffered under these regulations, if he has failed to carry out an order, issued under these regulations within the time specified in the order and to the satisfaction of the Health Officer or a Sanitary Inspector.

PART VI—Bills introduced in the Council of State and Legislative Assembly, Reports of Select Committees presented to the Council and Assembly and Bills published under Rule 18 of the Indian Legislative Rules.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

Legislative Assembly Department.

The following Bill was introduced in the Legislative Assembly on the 3rd March, 1944:—

L. A. BILL No. 13 OF 1944.

A Bill further to amend the Factories Act, 1934.

WHEREAS it is expedient further to amend the Factories Act, 1934 (XXV of 1934), for the purposes hereinafter appearing;

It is hereby enacted as follows:—

1. Short title.—This Act may be called the Factories (Amendment) Act, 1944.

2. Amendment of section 9, Act XXV of 1934.—In section 9 of the Factories Act, 1934 (XXV of 1934) (hereinafter referred to as the said Act), in sub-section (1) the word "and" occurring at the end of clause (d) shall be omitted and after clause (e) the following word and clause shall be added, namely:—

"; and

(f) such other particular as may be prescribed.".

3. Amendment of section 19, Act XXV of 1934.—In sub-section (3) of section 19 of the said Act, the words "in which any process involving contact by the workers with injurious or obnoxious substances is carried on" shall be omitted.

4. Amendment of section 23, Act XXV of 1934.—In sub-section (1) of section 23 of the said Act, for the words "as can reasonably be required in the circumstances of each factory" the words "as may be prescribed" shall be substituted.

5. Temporary amendment of sections 45 and 54, Act XXV of 1934.—Until the termination of the hostilities in being at the commencement of this Act the first proviso to sub-section (1) of section 45 and the proviso to sub-section (3) of section 54 of the said Act shall have effect as if for the figures and letters "7-30 P.M." the figures and letters "8-30 P.M." had been substituted.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

The Bill is intended to remedy certain defects and meet some difficulties in the working of the Factories Act, 1934, which are explained in the notes on clauses below.

B. R. AMBEDKAR.

NEW DELHI;

The 24th February, 1944.

NOTES ON CLAUSES.

Clause 2. Amendment to section 9.—The particulars which are at present required to be sent before commencement of work in a factory are not comprehensive enough. A suitable clause is therefore being added to sub-section (1) of section 9.

Clause 3. Amendment to section 19.—The washing facilities under sub-section (3) of section 19 are required to be provided only in places where workers come in contact with injurious or obnoxious substances. It is, however, desirable that washing facilities should be provided in all factories. The restrictive clause in the sub-section is therefore being deleted.

Clauses 3 and 4. Amendments to sections 22 and 23.—Under section 22 of the Act "precautions against fire" can be prescribed, and section 23 refers to orders which may be passed by Inspectors in the matter of "means of escape". In a recent judgment of the Bombay High Court it was held that rules to provide for "means of escape" were ultra vires in that they have reference to section 23 of the Act for the purpose of which such rules cannot be made. Rules have, however, been made by Provincial Governments in this matter, and it is considered that such rules are desirable. It is considered desirable that rules as hitherto made should exist. Sections 22 and 23 are accordingly being suitably amended.

Clause 5. Amendments to sections 45 and 54.—Under the provisions of sections 45 and 54, no woman or child shall be allowed to work in a factory except between the hours of 6 a.m. and 7 p.m., and the limiting hours can be varied by a Provincial Government to cover a span of 13 hours between 5 a.m. to 7-30 p.m. Practical difficulties have been felt in this respect in the western provinces. The required hours in many cases cannot be worked within the present allotted span unless work is started in the morning at an hour which is too early by the sun, and which is therefore inconvenient. It is therefore proposed to extend by an hour the evening limits in sections 45 and 54 from 7-30 p.m. to 8-30 p.m. The proposed amendment will have effect only for the duration of the war.

The youth, on the other hand, is truly oved by a village girl, his boyhood companion, who, however, is married to an old man and becomes a widow in no time. Circumstances so shape themselves that the Barrister's daughter marries an aristocratic youth, an unworthy lover; the village girl, unable to endure social persecutions any longer, takes to the life of a cinema star and the youth is left alone. Śeṣer Paricay. [The last revelation.]—An unfinished story of the author published serially in the "Bharatvarsha" and completed by Sm. Radharani Devi after his death. It is a tragic story of the mental suffering of a woman forced by circumstances to leave her husband and infant daughter for social reasons without uttering a word in her defence from a high sense of self-respect. Behind her apparent life of a mistress of a libertine she leads a perfectly chaste life, for ever cherishing solicitude for her family and hoping for a reconciliation. After her husband's change of fortune, she tries in many ways to help him and her daughter in their sad plight but all her attempts are resisted. She still tries for reconciliation in various ways, but her husband and daughter although they fully believe in her innocence, stubbornly refuse her help for social reasons. In the end, however, when the premature death of her daughter leaves her husband in a forlorn state, she takes charge of him, this time without any opposition. Bangālār Gīti Kavita. [Songs and lyrics of Bengal.]—A posthumous publication of four essays said to have been written by the late Chittaranajn Das in 1919, as a rejoinder to criticisms in an address delivered by him at Bogra in 1918 on the subject of the richness of Bengali poetry particularly lyrics ("Bangalar Giti Kavita") and read by the editor at the Calcutta University on the 14th, 15th, 17th and 18th September, 1934. The essays purport to estimate the contribution made by one of Bengal's ancient poet and devotee, Ramprasad, through his songs, towards the exposition of the "Sakti" cult, throw light on the stages of his spiritual evolution and give a comparison between his songs and Rammohan Roy's "Brahmasangit". Edited by Girijasankar Ray Chaudhuri. Published by Bishnupada Chakravarti, Sahitya Bhaban, Budge Budge, 24-Parganas. (22-8-1942.) Pages 164. Double Crown 16mo 1st edition. Re. 1 4-0. Copies 500.

Bengali—Politics.

115. Barendranath Chattarji—জনযুদ্ধের রূপ ও কৌশল—

Janayauddher Rūp O Kauśal [Form and tactics of the Peoples' war]—Reference is made to the grave dangers of the inactivity and passive mentality of a certain section of the educated people of India who are said to be awaiting the advent of the Japanese aggressors under the delusion that freedom of India cannot be achieved without foreign aid, while forgetting that the Japanese can never bring freedom to India and that their advent will only mean a change of master. This sort of self-diffidence is a serious thing and is injurious to a nation's tradition and independence as well. India is the home-land of the Indians whose duty it is to defend her and it is deprorable that they should display a spirit of indifference at this critical moment when international situation offers them the opportunity of attaining freedom of their country. The idea that India's weakness is due to her disarmed condition is refuted and it is pointed out that the real cause of her weakness is the absence of a spirit of resistance. Attention of the Indians is drawn to the importance of a people's army in this war in which victory is impossible without perfect co-ordination between regular armies and the people, as the present war is a total war and as such needs a total defence which is only possible if the entire people become awakened to the spirit of a national resistance and a firm self-confidence. Attention is also drawn to the techniques and tactics of the guerrilla force as demonstrated in China and Russia. Published by the author, Uttarpara, Hooghly. (20-6-1942.) Pages 32. Double Crown 16mo. 1st edition. Re. 0-2-6. Copies 1,000.

116. Bijan Ray—জাপানী-শাসনের আসল রূপ—

Jāpānī Sasaner Āsal Rūp [Real form of Japanese Government].—Attempts to disillusion a section of the people of Bengal who are believed to have a sympathy for Japan and to be labouring under the baseless idea that the Japanese will help the Indian to achieve freedom by reason of a curious logic that the Japanese are friends of the Indians, because they are enemies of the English who are enemies of the Indians. The change of the phase of the war from that of an imperialist war to that of a people's war require close examination of the Japanese intentions which are nothing but to find a market and if possible an empire also. Attention is drawn to the activities of Fascist Japan at aboard and at home particularly where a sham constitution exists to act as a machine in the hands of the rich, for keeping down all agitation of the people for uplift and reform by force and also by subtle and ingenious methods. Published by Satyabrata Chattarji, on behalf of the Fascist-Birodhi Lekhak O Silpi Sangha, 249, Bowbazar, Street, Calcutta. [26-6-1942.] Pages 39. Double Crown 16mo. 1st edition. Re. 0-4-0. Copies 1,000.

Presented in the form of a narration in author's own words, about the course of his experiences through different outstanding political movements leading to his present abhorence of Fascism. Published by Satyabrata Chattarjee on behalf of the Fascist-Berodhi Lekhak O Silpa-Sangha, 249D, Bowbazar Street, Calcutta. (20-6-1942.) Pages 13. Demy 8vo. 1st edition. Re. 0-2-0. Copies, 1000.

118 Pratibha Basu—ফ্যাশিজম ও নারী—

Phyāsijam O Nārī [Fascism and Woman].—Reviews in general the low position of Indian womanhood while condemning the humiliating treatment meted out to them in the society and referring to the noble pioneers of social reform who felt for the country's womenfolk and worked for their cause. Apprehension is expressed to the effect that even the faint movement for uplifting the position of Indian women, heralded in through western influence, has of late received a setback under the influx of Fascist ideas which have dealt a serious blow to the feminine cause. Reference made to the low and humiliating position of women in Japan, a Fascist ally, notwithstanding its vanity of all its progress and civilization. Also contains two appendices about the aims of the league of anti-fascist writers and artists and an appeal to writers to stand up against the inroads of Fascism which is regarded an inimical to native culture of this country. Published by Satyabrata Chattarjee on behalf of the Fascist-Birodhi Lekahak, O Silpi Sangha, 294D, Bowbazar Street, Calcutta. (20-7-1941.) Pages 13. Double Demy 16mo. 1st edition. Re. 0-2-0. 119. Sushilkumar Basu—এ যুদ্ধ আমাদের—

E-Yūddha Āmāder [This war is ours]—Points out that the present war has undergone a radical change in its nature and has become a people's war instead of continuing to be an inperialist war as it once was in the beginning. The present war is being fought in the interest of the entire humanity and as such Itally concerns Indians also who should not sit as idle and indifferent spectators in this world crisis which has offered them the possibility of independence. Attention is also drawn to the futility of the belief that Japanese will help the Indian to win independence, and to a proper ascertainment of the duties in this present war which is being fought for the liberation of suffering people all over the world and for the demolition of imperialism. Exhorts the people to offer resistance to the Fascist aggression acting unitedly with a firm will and staking everything in the struggle. Published by the author, 9-A, Ramanath Majumdar Street, Calcutta. 1942. (2-7-1942.) Pages 5+109. Double Crown 16mo. 1st edition. Re. 1-4-0. Copies 1,200.

Ichlāme Pārthib-Unnati [The secular prosperity in Islam]—Purports to say that the human instincts are always inclined to worship the creator, the Lord of the universe and to be acquainted with that supreme being is the goal of life. To achieve that end, humankind should follow the way which He directed to do and a deviation from that path means the destruction of the self. That way is Islam the sole aim of which is the salvation of humankind in this world as well as in the next. This religion is the law of God and is superior to any other system invented by men in the political, social and economical administration of the people and it is the only system which can ensure internal peace and external security. Traces out the causes of the depressed conditions of the Muslim community in the modern age and condemns the blind immitation of the Materialistic system of western civilization. Also invites the humankind to accept the pure faith Islam and proves that both secular and spiritual progress are simultaneously possible in it. Published by the author, Raipura, Dacca. 1942. 137. Hiren Mukherji—China Calling—A history of China's regeneration and national awakening culminating in her war against Japan which are said to be of compelling interest to the entire suffering humanity. Reviews among other things, her helpless submission to the alleged exploitation by foreign powers especially the Western, in whose wake Japan is said to have made a bid for her share in the exploits with the far greater object of world domination, her gradual awakening through long years of suffering intensified by internal dissensions her slow national unity forged by the influence of many outstanding characters, her stiff resistance to the Japanese aggression under conditions peculiar to her own in spite of her inferiority of arms which is appreciated as an inspiration to all in the anti-Fascist front, and also the Burma Road episode. Published by Satyabrata Chatterji, Anti-Fascist People's Union, 249, Bowbazar Street, Calcutta. 1942. (27-6-1942.) Pages 3+90. Double Crown 16mo. 1st edition. Re. 1-12-0. Illustrated. (2) The provisions of rules 54 to 59 inclusive shall not apply to a medicine made up ready for treatment, whether after or without dilution, which is supplied on the prescription of a registered medical practitioner by a person licensed under these rules to sell drugs, provided that, if the medicine contains a substance specified in Part I of Schedule D, the following conditions are satisfied:—

(a) The medicine shall be labelled with the name and address of the licensee by whom it is supplied.

(b) If the medicine is for external application, it shall be labelled in the manner prescribed in rule 56 with the word "Poison" and with the words "For external use only".

(c) If the medicine is for internal use, it shall be labelled with the dose.

(d) Condition (3) of the conditions in rule 23 shall be satisfied.

53. Prohibition of sale or distribution unless labelled.—Subject to the other provisions of these Rules, no person shall sell or distribute any drug (including a patent or proprietary medicine) unless it is labelled in accordance with these Rules.

54. Manner of labelling.—(1) Subject to the other provisions of these Rules, the particulars with which the container of any drug is required to be labelled under this Part shall appear on the innermost container in which the drug is packed and on every other covering in which that container is packed:

Provided that when the drug is contained in an ampoule or other similar article, it shall not be necessary to label the ampoule or other article itself, if every box or other covering in which it is enclosed is duly labelled.

(2) Nothing in these Rules shall be deemed to require the labelling of any transparent cover or of any wrapper, case or other covering used solely for the purpose of packing, transport or delivery.

55. Labelling of medicines.—(1) The container of a medicine for internal use made up ready for the treatment of human ailments shall—

(a) if it contains a substance specified in Part I of the Schedule D and not specified in Schedule F, be labelled with the word "Poison";

(b) if it contains a substance specified in Part 2 of Schedule D and not specified in Schedule F, be labelled with the word "Caution. It is dangerous to exceed the stated dose.";

(c) if it contains a substance specified in Schedule F, be labelled with the words "Caution. It is dangerous to take this preparation except under medical supervision."

(2) The container of an embrocation, liniment, lotion, liquid antiseptic or other liquid medicine for external application, which is made up ready for the treatment of human ailments, shall, if the medicine contains a substance specified in Schedule D, be labelled with the words "Poison. For external use only".

(3) The container of a medicine made up ready for the treatment of animals shall, if the medicine contains a substance specified in Schedule D, be labelled with the words "Poison. For animal treatment only".

(4) The container of a medicine which is not made up ready for treatment, shall, if the medicine contains a substance specified in Schedule D, be labelled with the word "Poison".

Explanation.—A medicine shall be deemed to be made up ready for treatment if it is made up and labelled with a dose ready for use, whether after or without dilution.

56. Manner of labelling.—The words with which a container of a medicine is required to be labelled under rule 55 shall—

(a) if the medicine contains a substance specified in Part I of Schedule D, either be in red lettering or be set against a red background, and

(b) in all cases shall either be on a separate label or be surrounded by a line within which there shall be no other words except words with which the container is required to be labelled under these rules.

57. Labelling with the name and address of seller.—The container of any substance specified in Schedule D or preparation containing such substance shall be labelled with the name and address of the seller and the address of the premises on which it was sold:

Provided that when the substance or preparation is sold in a container and outer covering, it shall be sufficient if the name and address of the seller appears either on the container or on the outer covering:

Provided further that when the substance or preparation is sold for the purpose of being sold again in the same container, the provisions of this Rule shall not apply;

Provided further that when the substance or preparation is supplied from a warehouse or depot in the course of wholesale dealing it shall be sufficient if the container is labelled with the seller's principal place of business.

58. Labelling with the name of substance.—(1) Subject to the provisions of this rule, the container of any substance specified in Schedule D or preparation containing such substance shll be labelled with the name of such substance.

(2) For the purposes of this rule, the name of a substance shall be the term under which it is included in Schedule D:

Provided that, where the said term describes a group of substances and not the substance specifically, the name of the substance shall be:—

(a) if the preparation is included in the British Pharmacopœia or the British Pharmaceutical Codex, one or other of the names or synonyms or abbreviated names set out therein; and (b) in any other case, the accepted scientific name.

(3) In the case of a preparation included in the British Pharmacopœia or the British Phrmaceutical Codex, or any dilution or admixture of such a preparation, or any surgical dressing for which a standard is prescribed in the British Phrmaceutical Codex, it shall be sufficient, notwithstanding anything in the foregoing sub-rules, to state the name, synonym or abbreviated name used to describe the preparation or surgical dressing in the British Pharmacopœia or the British Pharmaceutical Codex, with the addition of the letters "B. P." or "B. P. C.", as the case may be.

59. Labelling with statement of quantity.—(1) Subject to the provisions of this rule, the label of the container of any preparation containing alcohol, a derivative of alcohol or a substance specified in Schedule D shall include a statement of the quantity of alcohol or of the derivative of alcohol or of the said substance contained in the preparation as hereafter provided.

(2) If the preparation contains alcohol, the quantity of alcohol shall be stated in terms of the average percentage by volume of absolute alcohol in the finished product.

(3) If the preparation contains a derivative of alcohol or a substance specified in Schedule D, the quantity shall be stated, in the case of a liquid, in terms of grains or minims per fluid ounce, and in the case of a solid, in terms of grains or minims per avoirdupois ounce:

Provided that the quantity may be stated in terms of the metric system;

Provided also that when two or more pills, wafers, tablets, powders, capsules or the like are packed in the same container, the quantity shall be stated in terms of the quantity present in each pill, wafer, tablet, powder, capsule or other unit.

(4) In the case of a preparation containing a substance specified in Schedule H, it shall be sufficient to state on the label the particulars specified in that Schedule.

(5) In the case of a preparation included in the British Pharmacopœia or the British Pharmaceutical Codex or any dilution or admixture of such a preparation, or a surgical dressing for which a standard is prescribed in the British Pharmaceutical Codex the container of which is labelled with the name used to describe the article in the British Pharmacopœia or the British Pharmaceutical Codex with the addition of the letters "B.P." or "B.P.C.", as the case may be, it shall not be necessary to state on the label the proportion of the substance specified in Schedule D contained in the preparation.

(6) The quantity stated on the label shall be deemed to comply with the requirements of sub-rules (2) and (3) if the actual quantity present does not differ from that stated on the label by more than five per cent.

60. Non-Sterile Surgical Ligature and Suture.—Every container of, and wrapper enclosing surgical ligature or suture other than a ligature or suture offered or intended to be offered for sale as sterile shall bear a label on which are printed or written in a conspicuous manner in indelible red ink the words "Non-sterile surgical ligature (suture)—not to be used for operations upon the human body unless efficiently sterilised and tested for sterility by the processes prescribed by Rules under the Drugs Act, 1940".

61. Additional provisions for patent or proprietary medicines.—(1) There shall be printed or written in indelible ink on the outer label of every package containing a registered patent or proprietary medicine the letters "CDL" followed by the registration number of the medicine allotted by the Central Drugs Laboratory; and no other reference to the certificate of registration or to the fact of registration shall be made on any label on the container or any covering in which the container is packed.

64. Diseases which a drug may not purport to cure.—No drug may purport or claim to cure any disease or ailment specified in Schedule I, or to procure, or assist to procure the miscarriage of women.

PART VII.—SPECIAL PROVISIONS RELATING TO BIOLOGICAL AND OTHER SPECIAL PRODUCTS.

65. Name of substance.—If any substance specified in Schedule C is advertised or sold as a proprietary medicine or is contained in a medicine so advertised or sold, the name stated in Schedule E as being the accepted scientific name or name descriptive of the true nature and origin (hereinafter referred to as the "proper name") of the substance shall appear on the label in the manner prescribed in this Part.

66. Containers.—(1) No substance specified in Schedule C shall be sold or offered for sale unless it has been sealed in a previously sterilized glass container in such manner as will in the opinion of the licensing authority suffice to preclude the access of bacteria:

Provided that in the case of surgical ligature or suture the container may be of some substance other than glass.

(2) When any such substance is issued in liquid form in containers which are sealed in such a manner that portions of the contents can be withdrawn for use on different occasions, the liquid shall contain a sufficient proportion of some antiseptic to prevent the growth of any organism which may be accidentally introduced in the process of removing a portion of the contents of the container.

(3) The container shall comply with such further requirements, if any, as are specified in Schedule E in that behalf.

(4) The licensing authority may in the case of any particular preparation of any such substance dispense with any of the requirements of this Rule or of Schedule E, and may make such additional requirements, as having regard to the nature of the preparation, they may deem necessary.

67. Labelling.—(1) Every phial, ampoule or other container of a substance specified in Schedule C shall bear a label on which is printed or written in indelible ink the following particulars and such further particulars, if any, as are specified in Schedule E:—

(a) the proper name of the substance in letters not less conspicuous than those in which the proprietary name, if any, is printed or written, and following immediately after or under such proprietary name;

(b) the number of every licence under which the substance or any of its constituents is manufactured or imported, preceded in the case of import licences by the words "Import Licence";

(c) a distinctive batch number, that is to say, the number by reference to which the prescribed tests, and details of manufacture of the particular batch from which the substance in the container is taken are permanently recorded and available for inspection;

(d) where a test for potency in units is required by these Rules, a statement of the potency in units defined in terms of relation to the standard preparation specified in Schedule E:

Provided that this clause shall not apply in the case of vaccine lymph or surgical ligature or suture.

(2) The particulars prescribed in clauses (a), (b) and (c) of the preceding sub-rule shall be printed or written in indelible ink either on the label borne by a container of vaccine lymph or on a label or wrapper affixed to any package in which the container is issued for sale. The said particulars shall be indelibly marked on the sealed container of surgical ligature or suture or printed or written in indelible ink on a label enclosed therein.

(3) The following particulars and such further particulars, if any, as are specified in Schedule E shall be printed or written in indelible ink either on the label borne by the container of any substance specified in Schedule C or on a label or wrapper affixed to any package in which any such container is issued for sale:—

(a) the name and address of the manufacturer of the final product;

(b) the date on which the manufacture of the particular batch from which the substance in the container is taken was completed, as defined in Schedule E or, if there is no definition in Schedule E, as hereafter defined in this Rule, and in the case of vaccines prepared from concentrates, the date of completion of the final products and the bottling for issue;

(c) where a test for maximum toxicity is required by these Rules a statement that the substance has passed such test;

(d) where a test for potency or maximum toxicity is required, the date up to which the substance, if kept under suitable conditions, may be expected to retain a potency not less than that stated on the label of the container, or not to acquire a toxicity greater than that permitted by the test, as the case may be;

(e) where an antiseptic substance has been added, the nature and the percentage proportion introduced;

(f) the precautions necessary for preserving the properties of the contents to the date indicated in sub-paragraph (d) of this sub-rule.

(4) For the purposes of clause (b) of the last preceding sub-rule the date on which the manufacture of a batch is completed shall be—

(a) in cases where a test for potency or toxicity is required by these Rules or, not being so required, is accepted by the licensing authority as sufficient for the purpose of fixing the date of completion of manufacture, the date on which the test was completed, or the date on which the substance was removed from cold storage after having there been kept at a temperature not exceeding 5°C. continuously for a period not exceeding two years from the time when the last test was completed;

(b) in cases where no such test is required or accepted (i) if the substance is a serum obtained from living animals, the earliest date on which any material contributing to the batch was removed from the animal, (ii) if the substance was obtained by the growth of organisms on artificial media, the earliest date on which growth was terminated in any of the material contributing to the batch, and (iii) if the substance is a brain suspension used in the preparation of carbolised antirabic vaccine, the earliest date on which any brain material contributing to the batch was removed from the passage animal:

Provided that, in cases where no such test is required or accepted, if a batch of the substance (including all materials contributing to this batch) has for a period of not more than three years been kept in cold storage at a temperature not exceeding 5°C. continuously from the earliest practicable date after that on which the material was removed from the animal or on which growth was terminated in the material, as the case may be, the date of removal from cold storage shall be treated as the date on which the manufacture of the batch is completed.

68. Prohibition of sale of substance after prescribed date.—No person shall sell, or exhibit for sale any substance specified in Schedule C after the date recorded on the container, label or wrapper as the date up to which the substance may be expected to retain a potency not less than, or not to acquire a toxicity greater than, that required or permitted by the prescribed test, as the case may be:

Provided that a person may at the request of a registered medical practitioner sell after the date aforesaid any such substance (except one that is required to be tested for maximum toxicity) which loses its potency, if he has previously drawn the practitioner's attention to the dates recorded on the container, label or wrapper, and the practitioner is satisfied that the sale is required by the urgency of the case.

69. Standards.—Every substance specified in Schedules C and C(1) intended for sale shall conform with the standards of strength, quality and purity specified in these Rules and in Schedule E, and the tests for determining such conformity shall be applied to samples taken from the final product after every manufacturing process has been completed.

70. Tests for strength and quality.—The tests, if any, required for determining the strength and quality of each of the substances specified in Schedules C and C(1) shall be those set out in Schedule E.

71. Tests for sterility.—The test for sterility in the case of surgical ligature or suture shall be that prescribed in Part VIII of Schedule E.

72. The following tests for the presence of living aerobic or anaerobic bacteria shall be made by the manufacturer or by some institution approved by the licensing authority for the purpose of carrying out tests on his behalf in the case of—

(a) sera and solutions of serum proteins intended for injection;

(b) the bacterial vaccines to which Part I(A) of Schedule E applies;

(c) carbolised antirabic vaccine;

(d) toxins, antigens and mixtures of toxins or antigens with serum which are intended to be used in medical practice for immunizing treatment or for diagnosis by inoculation of the patient;

(e) solutions of insulin;

(f) dry preparations of insulin intended for therapeutic use;

(g) preparations of the posterior lobe of the pituitary body intended for use by injection, except preparations which, after being sealed in the containers, have been sterilised by heat in a manner satisfactory to the licensing authority; and

(h) any other preparations in a form to be administered parenterally except preparations which, after being sealed in containers, have been sterilised by heat in a manner satisfactory to the licensing authority:

Provided that—(i) in the case of dry preparations of insulin the tests shall be applied with such modifications as the licensing authority consider appropriate; and (ii) if a manufacturer satisfies the licensing authority that he has already in use tests for the presence of living aerobic or anaerobic bacteria in any of the abovenamed substances, and that these tests, as applied by him, will detect the presence of such bacteria in the substance as ready for issue with a certainty at least equal to that afforded by the application of the tests prescribed by this Part, the licensing authority may approve the use of such tests in the place of the prescribed tests, but in such a case the authority may at any time withdraw such approval and require the manufacturer to carry out the prescribed tests.

73. Application of tests for sterility.—The tests shall be applied—

(a) to samples taken from each batch of the substance before the operation of filling and sealing the containers in which it is to be issued has commenced; and

(b) to the contents of sample containers when ready for issue.

74. Amount of smples.—The samples required to be taken under the last preceding rule shall be taken in the following proportions:—

(a) in the case of samples taken from the batch, the quantity taken shall be not less than 0·1 per cent. of the total volume of the batch if the volume is not more than 10 litres, and not less than 10 c.c. if the volume is 10 litres or more, but shall in no case be less than 1 c.c.:

Provided that if, at the time when the test is made, the batch is contained in a number of bulk containers, samples in the foregoing proportions shall be taken from each of such bulk containers and be separately tested;

(b) in the case of the contents of sample containers the number of containers taken for test shall be not less than 1 per cent. of the total number filled from the batch if this number is not more than 1,000, and not less than 10 containers if the total number is more than 1,000.

75. Method of preparing and using media.—(1) The tests shall be made on fluid media, the quantity of medium contained in each tube or other vessel used in the test being such as to secure that any phenolic antiseptic present in the sample is diluted to less than 0·01 per cent.

When an antiseptic other than a phenolic antiseptic is used the dilution to be employed shall be that approved by the licensing authority.

(2) In the case of a test for aerobic organisms the medium shall consist either of a meat extract with the addition of 1 per cent. of peptone, or of such an equivalent as can be prepared by the tryptic digestion of muscle. After the final sterilisation the hydrogen-ion concentration of the medium shall be between the limits represented by pH=7·2 and pH=7·8.

(3) In the case of a test for anaerobic organisms the medium shall consist of a nutrient broth similar to that used in testing for aerobic organisms, with the addition of heat coagulated muscle of an amount sufficient to occupy a depth of not less than 1 centimetre at the bottom of the tube. After the final sterilisation the hydrogen-ion concentration of the medium shall be between the limits represented by pH=7·2 and pH=7·8. Before the test inoculation the medium shall be heated to 100°C. for a period sufficient to free it completely from dissolved oxygen, and then be cooled to 37°C. or lower.

(4) The licensing authority may, at the request of any licensee, authorise the use, for the test prescribed under either sub-rule (2) or (3) of any other specified medium or method of using a specified medium, on being satisfied that its use affords equal certainty in the detection of the presence of living aerobic or anaerobic organisms, as the case may be.

76. Method of testing.—(1) In the case of samples taken from the batch each sample shall be inoculated into tubes or other vessels containing the media, one-half of the total volume of the sample being used for the aerobic and one-half for the anaerobic test.

(2) In the case of the contents of sample containers the contents of each container shall be subjected to the test for aerobic and the test for anaerobic organisms. When the volume in the container is 2 c.c. or more, 1 c.c. shall be used for each test. When the volume in the container is less than 2 c.c., the contents shall be divided into two approximately equal parts, one part being used for the aerobic and the other for the anaerobic test.

(3) The inoculated tubes shall be incubated at 37°C. for five days and be examined after incubation, permanent records being kept for the examination of each tube.

77. (1) If at this examination no growth of micro-organisms is found in any tube, the sample may be treated as having passed the test.

(2) If at the examination a growth of micro-organisms is visible, further samples may be taken and the tests may be repeated on the further samples so taken; but no container the contents of which form part of the batch shall be issued until such further samples have passed the test. The process of taking samples from the batch for a test may, if necessary, be repeated twice:

Provided that if the same organism is visible in more than one test, the batch shall be treated as not sterile and the material contained in the batch shall not be issued or used as part of a further batch unless and until it has been re-sterilised and has passed the tests.

78. Notwithstanding anything contained in the last preceding rule, in any case where—

(a) a substance is required in an emergency by a registered medical practitioner, but the licensee has no filled containers in stock; or

(b) a substance which in the opinion of the licensing authority is so unstable in solution that the delay occasioned by the completion of the sterility test on filled containers would render its issue an active form impossible, the licensee may issue the substance from a batch which has already passed the tests for sterility and freedom from abnormal toxicity, without completing the sterility test on the filled containers, provided that he complies with the following conditions:—

(i) the licensee shall before the issue take samples in the required proportions from the containers into which the batch is filled, and after the required inoculation and incubation shall examine the tubes every day for five days;

(ii) if at any examination any growth is visible in any of the tubes, he shall immediately notify the licensing authority;

(iii) he shall keep available for inspection a record of all issues made under this rule containing such particulars of the circumstances in which the issue is made as the licensing authority may require.

79. Tests for freedom from abnormal toxicity.—The following tests for freedom from abnormal toxicity shall, in the case of each batch of serum, be made by the licensee or by some institution approved by the licensing authority for the purpose of carrying on the tests on his behalf:—

(a) a dose of 0·5 c.c. of the serum shall be injected subcutaneously into a normal mouse and the serum may be treated as having passed the test for freedom from an excess of phenolic antiseptic if the injection does not produce death or serious symptoms within seven days; and

(b) a dose of not less than 5 c.c. of the serum shall be injected subcutaneously or intraperitoneally into a normal guineapig and the serum shall be treated as having passed the test for freedom from other abnormal toxic constituents if the injection does not produce death or serious symptoms within seven days.

80. Substances specified in Schedule C(1).—The following provisions shall apply in the case of a substance specified in Schedule C(1):—

(a) The container shall comply with the requirements, if any, specified in Schedule E.

(b) There shall be printed or written in indelible ink on the label—(i) the proper name of the substance; (ii) the number of the licence under which the substance is manufactured or imported, preceded in the case of import licences by the words "Import Licence"; (iii) a batch number, that is to say, the number by reference to which the prescribed tests and details of manufacture of the particular batch from which the substance in the container is taken are permanently recorded and available for inspection; (iv) when a test for potency in units is required by these Rules, a statement of the potency in units defined in terms of relation to the standard preparation specified in Schedule E.

(c) The substance shall conform with the standards of strength, quality and purity specified in Schedule E and the tests for determining the strength, quality and purity of the substance shall be those specified in Schedule E.

(d) The tests for determining the strength, quality and purity of a substance specified in Schedule E shall be applied to samples taken from the final product after each manufacturing process has been completed.

(e) The substance should be stored in a cool place and away from light.

PART VIII.—EXEMPTIONS.

81. The drugs specified in Schedule J shall be exempted from the provisions of Chapter IV of the Act and the rules made thereunder to the extent and subject to the conditions specified in that Schedule.

PART IX.—STANDARDS.

82. The United States Pharmacopoeia shall be deemed to be a prescribed pharmacopoeia for the purpose of the schedule to the Act.

SCHEDULE E.

[See rule 36 and Part VII.]

PART I.—VACCINES.

(A) PROVISIONS APPLICABLE TO THE PRODUCTION OF BACTERIAL VACCINES.

1. Definition.—(1) This Part of this Schedule applies to bacterial vaccines made from any micro-organism pathogenic to man or other animal and to vaccines made from other micro-organisms which have any antigenic value.

(2) For the purposes of this Part of this Schedule a bacterial vaccine means a sterile suspension of a killed culture of the micro-organism from which the vaccine derives its name or a sterile extract of derivative of a micro-organism which has been prepared from a genuine culture of the micro-organism.

2. Staff of Establishment.—The establishment where vaccines are prepared must be under the complete direction and control of a competent expert in bacteriology, who must be assisted by a staff adequate for carrying out the tests required during the preparation of the vaccines and in connection with the finished products.

3. Proper Name.—The proper name of any vaccine shall be the name of the micro-organism from which it is made, followed by the word "vaccine" unless this Schedule otherwise provides or, if there is no special provision in this Schedule, some other name is approved by the licensing authority: Provided that in the case of the under-mentioned preparations the proper name of the vaccine may be as follows:—

Anti-cholera vaccine;
Anti-typhoid vaccine;
Anti-typhoid-paratyabold vaccine (T.A.B.).
Anti-typhoid-paratyphoid-cholera vaccine (T.A.B.C.);
Antiplague vaccine;
Antidysentery vaccine;
Whooping cough vaccine.

4. Records.—Cultures used in the preparation of vaccines must, before being manipulated into a vaccine, be thoroughly tested for identity by the generally accepted tests applicable to the particular micro-organism. The permanent records which the licensee is required to keep shall include a record of the origin, properties and characteristics of the cultures.

5. Combined Vaccines.—Vaccines may be issued either singly or combined in any proportion in the same container. In the case of combinations of vaccine a name for the combined vaccine may be submitted by the licensee to the licensing authority, and, if approved, may be used as the proper name of the vaccine.

6. Labelling.—(1) The label on the container shall indicate the composition of the vaccine by reference either:—

(a) to the number of micro-organisms per c.c.; or

(b) to the weight of dried substance of micro-organisms per c.c.; or

(c) to the number of micro-organisms or weight of dried substance of micro-organisms used in preparing 1 c.c. of the finished product.

In the case of a combined vaccine the reference to the number of micro-organisms per c.c. or to the weight of dried substance of micro-organism shall distinguish between the several kinds of contributing micro-organisms.

(2) If the vaccine as issued for sale is combined with any substance other than a simple diluent, the exact nature and strength of such substance must be stated on the label.

7. Tests.—In the case of any vaccine prepared from a micro-organism which does not grow readily in ordinary culture media each batch of the vaccine shall, in addition to being submitted to the general tests for sterility prescribed in the Rules under the Act, be tested either in a similar manner on media which are specially favourable to the growth of the particular micro-organism from which the vaccine was prepared or by injection into an animal of a species known to be susceptible to infection by the particular organism, and no material from any batch shall be issued unless the batch has passed one of these tests.

(B) PROVISIONS APPLICABLE TO THE PRODUCTION OF VACCINE LYMPH (VACCINIA).

1. Definition and Proper Name.—Vaccine Lymph is a preparation of the substance obtained from the vesicles produced on the skin of healthy animals by inoculation of vaccinia virus. Its proper name is "Vaccine Lymph".

2. Staff of Establishment.—The establishment in which vaccine lymph is prepared must be under the complete direction and control of a competent expert, who must be assisted by a staff adequate for carrying out the tests required during the preparation of the vaccine lymph must be adequately and healthily housed.

3. Condition and Housing of Animals.—(1) The animals used in the production of vaccine lymph must be adequately and healthily housed.

(2) Only healthy animals may be used in the production of vaccine lymph. Each animal intended to be used as a source of vaccine lymph must, before being passed for the production of vaccine lymph, be subjected to a period of observation in quarantine for at least ten days. During the period of quarantine the animal must remain free from any sign of disease and must be thoroughly cleaned and groomed.

4. Precautions to be Observed in Preparation.—(1) A special room, with impervious walls and floor, which can be washed and, when necessary, chemically disinfected, must be provided for the inoculation of the animals and the collection of the vaccine lymph.

(2) The inoculation shall be made on such parts of the animal as are not liable to be soiled by the passage of fæces. The surface used for inoculation shall be shaved and so cleaned as to procure the nearest possible approach to asepsis.

(3) When the vaccine lymph has been collected the animal, if not previously killed, shall be killed, and a thorough post-mortem examination of the carcase shall be made by a qualified expert. A complete record of each such examination shall be kept, and shall be open to inspection by or on behalf of the licensing authority at any time. If the examination reveals any condition which indicates or suggests that the animal was suffering from any infection (other than vaccinia) the lymph obtained from that animal shall not be issued. When post-mortem examination is not carried out, each animal shall be kept under observation for a period of at least forty-eight hours after collection of lymph.

(4) All instruments and appliances used in the production of vaccine lymph shall be previously subjected to an effective process of sterilisation.

(5) Laboratories in which vaccine lymph, after removal from the animal, is exposed to the air in the course of the process of prepartion must be separated from stables and animal houses by a distance sufficient to avoid the risk of aerial contamination with bacteria from animal excreta. Such laboratories must have impervious walls and floors and must be capable of being readily disinfected when necessary. All processes to which the vaccine lymph is subjected must be such as will preclude the access of bacteria.

(6) All vaccine lymph must be subjected, after collection, to such treatment with glycerol or other partial disinfectants as will bring its content of bacteria and other microscopically visible micro-organisms within the limit prescribed in paragraph 7 of this Part of this Schedule.

(7) When the procedures necessary to bring the content of bacterial and other visible micro-organisms within the prescribed limit have been completed, the vaccine lymph shall be kept continuously in cold storage, at a temperature below 0°C., until it is withdrawn to be filled into tubes for issue, after which process the filled tubes shall immediately be returned to cold storage and kept continuously at a temperature below 0°C., until required for issue.

5. Containers.—Vaccine lymph for issue shall be introduced (a) into previously sterilised capillary glass tubes by a method excluding access of bacteria or (b) tubes of large dimensions previously sterilised The tubes shall then be hermetically sealed at each end. Each tube shall contain a quantity of vaccine lymph suitable for the effective vaccination of one human subject: Provided that in case of emergency a larger quantity of vaccine lymph may be issued in containers of larger dimensions, which have been sterilised before the introduction of the lymph, and sealed so as to preclude the access of bacteria.

6. Labelling.—(1) The label on the container or a label or wrapper affixed to the package in which the container is issued for sale shall bear a statement that the potency of the vaccine lymph cannot be assured for more than seven days from the date of completion of manufacture, unless the lymph is kept at a temperature below 10°C.

(2) For the purpose of Rule 67(3)(b) the date on which the manufacture of the batch is completed shall be the date on which the vaccine lymph is removed for issue from cold storage after having been kept continuously at a temperature below 0°C. since the date of filling into tubes for issue.

7. Tests for purity.—(1) During the exposure of the vaccine lymph to the action of glycerol or other partial disinfectant under suitable conditions of temperature the number and nature of the living bacteria and other visible micro-organisms present shall be periodically determined, the results being recorded, and the records being kept for inspection. These determinations shall be made by the preparation of plate cultures in the manner provided in sub-paragraph (b) of the next succeeding paragraph and by enumeration of the colonies appearing on incubation for two days at approximately 37°C., and then for at least three days at approximately 20°C. This treatment and examination of the vaccine lymph shall continue until the total number of living bacteria and other visible micro-organisms present has been reduced to not more than 5 in 1 milligram or 5,000 in 1 c.c. of the vaccine lymph, and no vaccine lymph shall be issued until this reduction has been effected.

(2) Each batch of vaccine lymph shall be submitted to the following tests for the presence of living gas-producing anaerobic organisms and for the presence of haemolytic streptococci:—

(a) Tests for the presence of living, gas-producing anaerobic organisms.—A sample consisting of not less than 0·1 c.c. of the vaccine lymph shall be inoculated into such a medium and incubated at 37°C. under such conditions, as will, to the satisfaction of the licensing authority, reveal with certainty the presence of living organisms growing and producing gas under anaerobic conditions. If the presence of such organisms is revealed by the test, the batch of lymph containing them shall not be issued.

(b) Test for the presence of living haemolytic streptococci.—A sample of the vaccine lymph shall be thoroughly mixed with melted nutrient agar medium and a culture plate poured from the mixture, or the sample shall be spread upon the surface of a prepared plate of nutrient agar. This shall be incubated at 37°C., and be examined daily for two days for the presence of colonies having the appearance of colonies of streptococci. If any such colony is detected it shall be examined, and the nature of the organism determined. If any such colony is found to be formed of streptococci, the organism shall be isolated, and shall be further tested for haemolytic properties by cultivation at 37°C. in nutrient broth to which fresh blood or red blood corpuscles have been added. If any of the streptococci so obtained from a batch of lymph are found to produce haemolysis during their growth in such a medium, the batch of lymph from which they are grown shall not be issued.

8. Test for potency.—(1) Each batch of vaccine lymph, after all the procedures required for preparing it for issue have been completed, shall be tested for potency, so as to ensure its activity at the time of issue.

(2) For the purpose of a test for potency a dilution shall be prepared by mixing 1 volume of the lymph as diluted for distribution with 1 000 volumes of physiological saline solution. The dilution shall be used for the test without filtration.

(3) The thousandfold dilution of the vaccine lymph shall be tested in accordance with a method approved by the licensing authority.

(4) Notwithstanding the provisions of sub-paragraphs (2) and (3), any other test for potency which is approved by the licensing authority may be employed.

(C) PROVISIONS APPLICABLE TO THE PRODUCTION OF VACCINES CONTAINING LIVING ORGANISMS, VIRUSES, OR OTHER POTENTIALLY INFECTIVE AGENTS, OTHER THAN VACCINE LYMPH (VACCINIA).

1. Every substance other than Vaccine Lymph (Vaccinia) containing, or alleged to contain bacteria, or virus or other potentially infective agent in the living condition shall be tested in such manner as the licensing authority shall approve in each particular case for the purpose of determining—

(a) that the substance contains in living condition the bacteria, virus, or other potentially infective agent, which it is alleged to contain;

(b) that its administration is free from danger;

(c) that it is free from living organisms other than those which it is alleged to contain.

2. The proper name of such a substance shall be that which the licensing authority, in each particular case, shall approve in writing.

(2) The inoculation of animals and the removal of their brains must be carried out with full aseptic precautions.

(3) Tests for bacterial sterility of brains of animals used for the maintenance of the Fixed Virus Strain for the preparation of carbolised antirabic vaccine must be carried out at the time of their removal and any brain material found to show bacterial contamination mush not be employed in the manufacture of the vaccine. The sterility tests to be employed shall be those laid down in Rules 72 to 77.

6. Records.—The licensee shall maintain permanent records of the origin, properties, and characteristics of the Fixed Rabies Virus Strain and of the serial passages made for its maintenance. Records shall be maintained of each animal passage made for the manufacture of the carbolised antirabic vaccine and of the manipulation of the brain material used.

7. Labelling.—The label on the container shall indicate the percentage of brain substance present in the vaccine.

3. Tests.—Tetanus Toxoid shall be submitted to the following tests, and it shall not be issued unless it passes all of the tests.

(a) Tests for sterility.—Tetanus Toxoid shall be submitted to the tests for sterility as required under Part VII of the Rules, and in addition, it shall be tested on media and under conditions approved by the licensing authority as being specially favourable for the growth of Clostridium Tetani.

(b) Tests to determine that the specific toxicity of the toxin used in its preparation has been completely removed.—5 c.c. of the tetanus toxoid shall be injected into each of not less than five normal guinea-pigs, each weighing from 250 to 350 grammes. If this injection produces any symptom of tetanus in any of the animals injected within 21 days of injection the tetanus toxoid shall be held not to have passed the test.

(c) Tests for potency as an immunising antigen.—The tests shall be carried out on not less than nine normal guinea-pigs, each weighing from 250 to 350 grammes. Each guinea-pig shall receive by injection the tetanus toxoid, either in a dose of 5 c.c. on one occasion, or in two doses each of 0·1 c.c. on each of two occasions separated by an interval of not more than four weeks. It shall be permissible to include in the test guinea-pigs injected by either of these two methods provided that the total number so included is not less than nine. At a date not later than six weeks after the single injection hereinbefore prescribed, or if they have received the two injections, hereinbefore prescribed, at a date not later than two weeks after the second injection, the tetanus antitoxin present in the serum of each guinea-pig shall be determined.

If the serum of each of two-thirds or more of the guinea-pigs tested contains 0·1 international unit, or more of tetanus antitoxin per c.c. of serum, or alternatively, if the serum of each of one-third or more of the guinea-pigs tested contains 1 international unit or more of tetanus antitoxin per c.c. of serum, the tetanus toxoid shall be accepted as sufficiently potent.

PROVISIONS APPLICABLE TO TETANUS TOXOID PREPARED FOR ISSUE IN FORMS OTHER THAN SIMPLE SOLUTION.

4. Proper Name.—The proper name of any form of tetanus toxoid other than that of simple solution shall be "Tetanus Toxoid" together with a phrase indicating the nature of the additional process to which it has been subjected, e.g., "Tetanus Toxoid, Alum Precipitated," or "Alum precipitated Tetanus Toxoid".

5. Labelling.—The label on the container shall indicate the dose or doses, appropriate for administration at one injection to a human subject.

6. Tests.—(a) When tetanus toxoid is prepared for administration in forms other than simple solution, such as Alum precipitated Tetanus Toxoid, the tetanus toxoid from which such forms are prepared shall be submitted to, and shall pass, the tests for sterility and for absence of specific toxicity hereinbefore prescribed.

(b) The product, after precipitation or other process used for its final preparation, shall again be subjected to the sterility tests hereinbefore prescribed, with such modifications as the nature of the product may require to make the test effective.

(c) The product, after the precipitation or other process used for its final preparation, shall be subjected to the tests for absence of specific toxicity and for potency as an immunising antigen hereinbefore prescribed, with the modification that the dose injected in the test for absence of specific toxicity and in the test for potency as an immunising antigen when a single dose is administered, shall be 1 c.c.

PART II.—TOXINS AND ANTIGENS.

(A) PROVISION APPLICABLE TO THE REAGENTS USED IN THE SCHICK TEST FOR THE DIAGNOSIS OF SUSCEPTIBILITY TO DIPHTHERIA.

1. Definitions and proper names.—(1) The reagents used in the Schick test are two, Schick Toxin and Schick Control. Their proper names respectively are "Schick Test Toxin" and "Schick Control".

(2) Schick Test Toxin is a sterile filtrate from a culture on nutrient broth of the specific organism of Diphtheria (Corynebacterium diphtheriae). It may be issued either—

(a) undiluted, accompanied by a container in the same box or carton holding such a volume of sterile saline solution as, when mixed with the accompanying quantity of the undiluted toxin, will make a dilution of the strength proper for use in the test. The proper name of the substance in this form is "Schick Test Toxin (undiluted)"; or

(b) already diluted with an appropriate saline solution to the strength proper for use in the test. The proper name of the substance in this form is "Schick Test Toxin (diluted for use)".

(3) Schick Control is prepared from the same batch of Schick Toxin as that with which it is used for sale, by destroying the specific toxicity. This is effected by heating the toxin in such a manner as to keep it at a temperature not lower than 70°C. for a time not shorter than five minutes. Schick Control is issued in a dilution not weaker than that in which the corresponding toxin is used in the test.

(4) The dilution of schick toxin proper for the test is that in which 0·2 c.c. contains one test dose.

2. Tests for potency.—The test dose of Schick Toxin for the purpose of the foregoing provision shall be measured by the following tests:—

(a) by intracutaneous injection into normal guinea-pigs in mixtures with different proportions of diphtheria antitoxin. One test dose mixed with 7/750th or more of a unit of antitoxin must cause no local reaction, but mixed with 1/1250th or less of a unit of antitoxin must cause a definite local reaction of the type known as the "positive Schick reaction";

(b) by intracutaneous injection into normal guinea-pigs, without admixture with antitoxin 1/50th of one test dose must not cause, and 1/25th of one test dose must cause a definite local reaction of the type known as the "positive Schick reaction".

3. Application of Rule 78.—Rule 78 shall apply to Schick Toxin (diluted for use) as being a substance so unstable in solution that the delay occasioned by the completion of the sterility test on filled containers prescribed by the Rules would render its issue in active form impossible.

(B) PROVISIONS APPLICABLE TO DIPHTHERIA PROPHYLACTIC.

1. Definition and Proper Name.—Diphtheria Prophylactic is diphtheria toxin (the sterile filtrate from a culture on nutrient broth of Corynebacterium diphtheriae), or material derived therefrom the specific toxicity of which has been reduced to a low value either by the action of chemical substances, or by the addition of diphtheria antitoxin, or by both methods, but, in any case, in such a manner that it retains efficient properties as an immunising antigen. Its proper name is "Diphtheria Prophylactic".

2. Labelling.—The label on the container shall bear a statement of the dose (hereinafter referred to as the "human dose") appropriate for administration at one injection to a human subject.

3. Tests.—Diphtheria Prophylactic shall be submitted to the following tests:—

(a) Tests to determine that the specific toxicity of the toxin used in its preparation has been so reduced that it does not exceed the prescribed maximum.—Five human doses of the Diphtheria Prophylactic under test shall be injected into each of five normal guinea-pigs each weighing 250 to 350 grammes. This injection must not cause the death of any of the guinea-pigs within six days following the injection. If all the guinea-pigs injected survive for six days but any of them die within thirty days following the injection from the specific toxaemia, one human dose of the Diphtheria Prophylactic under test shall be injected into each of five normal guinea-pigs, each weighing 250 to 350 grammes. This injection must not cause the death of any of the guinea-pigs within 30 days following the injection.

If a batch of Diphtheria Prophylactic is shown by either of these tests to have a greater toxicity than the maximum hereby indicated, it shall not be issued unless and until the toxicity has been so reduced by further treatment that it does not exceed that minimum.

(b) Tests for potency as an immunising antigen.—A quantity of Diphtheria Prophylactic not exceeding five human doses shall be injected on one occasion into each of at least ten normal guinea-pigs; or, alternatively, a quantity of Diphtheria Prophylactic not exceeding one-tenth of a human dose shall be injected into each of at least ten normal guinea-pigs on each of two occasions, separated by an interval of not more than four weeks. The guinea-pigs shall be tested for immunity to diphtheria toxin, if they have received the single injection hereinbefore prescribed, at a date not later than six weeks after injection, and if they have received the two injections hereinbefore prescribed at a date not later than three weeks after the second injection, by intracutaneous injection into each guinea-pig of one test dose of Schick Toxin. If more than two out of ten guinea-pigs thus tested or more than one quarter of the number tested if this is greater than ten exhibit a positive Schick reaction, the batch of Diphtheria Prophylactic shall be treated as insufficiently potent, and shall not be issued:

Provided that in the case of the forms of Diphtheria Prophylactic known as Toxin-Antitoxin Floccules and Toxoid-Antitoxin Floccules the Prophylactic may be similarly injected into nine or more normal guinea-pigs which may be tested for immunity to Diphtheria Toxin by two separate but simultaneous intracutaneous injections into each of at least nine of these guinea-pigs of one test dose and two test doses, respectively, of Schick Toxin. If two-thirds or more of the guinea-pigs tested do not exhibit a positive reaction to one test dose of Schick Toxin; or alternatively, if one-third or more of the guinea-pigs tested do not exhibit a positive reaction to two test doses of Schick Toxin, the batch shall be accepted as sufficiently potent.

(C) PROVISIONS APPLICABLE TO TUBERCULINS AND OTHER PREPARATIONS FROM THE BACILUS TUBERCULOSIS AND ITS CULTURES.

(NOTE.—The name "tuberculin" has been frequently applied to any extract, suspension or other preparation of the Bacillus tuberculosis or of media on which that bacillus has been cultivated. In the following Part of this Schedule the name is used in a more restricted sense and applies only to tuberculins as therein defined.)

TUBERCULINS.

1. Definition and proper name.—(1) Tuberculins are preparations of fluid media on which the Bacillus tuberculosis has been grown in artificial culture and which have been freed by filtration from the bacilli.

(2) For the purposes of this Schedule tuberculins are classified in two groups (a) Old Tuberculin, and (b) Tuberculin Boullion Filtrate.

2. Old Tuberculin.—(1) Old Tuberculin is the concentrated filtrate from the growth of Bacillus tuberculosis on a suitable nutrient broth. For its preparation the bacillus must be grown at approximately 37°C. for a period, usually not less than 6 weeks, sufficient to allow the surface of the fluid medium to become covered by a thick growth of the bacillus. At the end of this period the fluid medium, from which the bacilli may or may not have been previously separated by filtration, must be concentrated by evaporation to one-tenth of its original volume, and then be filtered. If the required test for potency shows that the preparation so concentrated is more potent than the standard preparation, the potency may be reduced to the required degree by appropriate dilution. If the test shows that the potency is less than that of the standard preparation, it shall not be increased by further evaporation. The proper name of the preparation is "Old Tuberculin," with or without a suffix such as T., or P.T. The suffix T., if used, will indicate that the bacillus used in preparing the Tuberculin was obtained from a case of human infection, and the suffix P. T. that the bacillus used was obtained from a case of bovine infection.

(2) The standard preparation of Old Tuberculin, is a quantity of Old Tuberculin kept in the National Institute for Medical Research, Hampstead.

(3) Each batch of Old Tuberculin shall be tested for potency by observation of its specific toxicity, by a method approved by the licensing authority, in such a way that the potency of the preparation under test is measured by comparison with that of the standard preparation. Old Tuberculin shall not be issued if its activity differs from that of the standard preparation to such an extent that the difference is revealed by the test.

(4) Each batch of Old Tuberculin shall be tested for the absence of non-specific toxicity by the subcutaneous injection of 0·5 c.c. into a normal guinea-pig, and shall be treated as having passed the test if such injection does not cause death or serious symptoms.

3. Tuberculin Boullion filtrate.—(1) Tuberculin Boullion Filtrate is the unconcentrated Filtrate from the growth of Bacillus tuberculosis on a suitable nutrient broth. For its preparation the bacillus must be grown at approximately 37°C. for a period usually not less than 6 weeks, sufficient to allow the surface of the fluid medium to become covered by a thick growth of the bacillus. At the end of this period the medium is freed from bacilli by filtration through a bacteria-proof filter. The proper name of the preparation is "Tuberculin Boullion Filtrate," with or without a suffix such as T. O. A. or P. T. O. The suffix T. A. O., if used, will indicate that the bacillus used in preparing the Tuberculin Boullion Filtrate was obtained from a case of human infection; and the suffix P. T. O. will indicate that the bacillus used was obtained from a case of bovine infection.

(2) Each batch of Tuberculin Boullion Filtrate shall be tested for the absence of non-specific toxicity by the subcutaneous injection of 5 c.c. into a normal guinea-pig, and shall be treated as having passed the test if such injection does not cause death or serious symptoms.

4. Test for sterility.—All tuberculins shall be tested for sterility in accordance with Rules 73 to 77. Tuberculin Boullion Filtrate shall be tested in addition for absence of living tubercle bacilli by a method satisfactory to the licensing authority.

TUBERCLE VACCINES.

5. Definition and proper name.—Tubercle vaccines are preparations made from the bacillary substance obtained by growth of the Bacillus tuberculosis on artificial media, and consisting of suspensions of the killed organisms or of products therefrom, in water or other suitable suspending fluids. The proper name is "Tubercle Vaccine," and any other descriptive title or symbol indicating the origin of the bacilli or the nature of the process of preparation must be used in addition to, and not in substitution for, the name "Tubercle Vaccine".

6. Application of provisions as to bacterial vaccines.—The provisions of Part I(A) of this Schedule (which relates to the production of bacterial vaccines) shall apply to the production of tubercle vaccines.

(D) PROVISIONS APPLICABLE TO STAPHYLOCOCCUS TOXOID.

1. Definition and proper name.—Staphylococcus Toxoid is staphylococcus toxin (the sterile filtrate from a culture on a suitable medium of a toxigenic strain of staphylococcus), the specific toxicity of which has been reduced to a low value by the action of chemical substances in such a manner that it retains efficient properties as an immunising antigen. Its proper name is "Staphylococcus Toxoid".

Staphylococcus Toxoid may be issued either—

(a) undiluted; or

(b) already diluted with an appropriate saline solution to the strength suitable for injection.

2. Labelling.—The label on the container shall indicate the dose, or doses, appropriate for administration at one injection to a human subject.

3. Tests.—Staphylococcus Toxoid shall be submitted to the following tests; it shall not be issued unless it passes all of the tests.

(a) Tests to determine that the specific toxicity of the toxin used in its preparation has been sufficiently reduced.—(i) One volume of the undiluted staphylococcus toxoid shall be added to four volumes of physiological saline solution; equal volumes of this dilution of staphylococcus toxoid and of a 2 per cent. suspension of washed red blood corpuscles of the rabbit shall be mixed; when the mixture is heated to 37°C. for one hour there must be no significant haemolysis.

(ii) 0·2 c.c. of the undiluted staphylococcus toxoid shall be injected intracutaneously into a normal rabbit or guinea-pig; this injection may cause a slight local reaction but must not produce necrosis.

(iii) Two rabbits shall be injected intravenously with doses of staphylococcus toxoid calculated at the rate of 2·5 c.c. per kilogram body weight; this injection must not cause the death of either rabbit within three days following the injection.

(b) Test of non-specific toxicity.—Two normal mice shall be injected intraperitoneally with 0·5 c.c. of the undiluted toxoid; this injection must not cause the death of either animal within seven days following the injection.

(c) Tests for potency as an immunising antigen.—1 c.c. of the undiluted staphylococcus toxoid shall be injected into each of not less than nine normal guinea-pigs on each of two occasions separated by an interval of not more than four weeks; at a date not later than two weeks after the second injection the staphylococcus antitoxin present in the serum of each guinea-pig shall be determined.

If the serum of each of two-thirds or more of the guinea-pigs tested contains 0·5 unit or more of staphylococcus antitoxin per c.c. of serum, or alternatively, if the serum of each of one-third or or more of the guinea-pigs tested contains 1 unit or more of staphylococcus antitoxin per c.c. of serum, the toxoid shall be accepted as sufficiently potent.

PART III.—PROVISIONS APPLICABLE TO THE PRODUCTION OF ALL SERA FROM LIVING ANIMALS.

1. Conditions and housing of animals.—(1) The animals used in the production of sera must be adequately and healthily housed.

(2) Only healthy animals may be used in the preparation of sera, and in particular the presence of glanders in horses or other equidae and of tuberculosis in cattle must be excluded by testing with mallein and tuberculin respectively.

(3) Every new animal intended to be used as a source of serum must be subjected to a period of observation in quarantine for at least 7 days, before being admitted to the stables in which the serum-yielding animals are housed.

(4) Every animal used as a source of serum must either be actively immunized against tetaneous toxin or must be passively immunized against that toxin by injections of tetanus antitoxin in such doses as to ensure the constant presence of that antitoxin in the blood during the whole period of the use of the animal as a source of serum.

2. Staff of Establishment.—The establishment must be under the complete direction and control of a competent expert in bacteriology and serology, assisted by a staff adequate for carrying out the tests required during the preparation of the sera and in connection with the finished products.

3. Precautions to be observed in preparation.—(1) Laboratories where sera are exposed to the air in the course of the process of preparation must be separated by a sufficient distance from stables and animal houses to avoid the risk of aerial contamination with bacteria from animal excrete, and must be rendered fly-proof to prevent such contamination by insects. Such laboratories must have impervious walls and floors and must be capable of being readily disinfected when necessary.

(2) A special room with impervious walls and floor which can be washed and, when necessary, chemically disinfected must be provided for the collection of blood from the living animal.

(3) An efficient system of manure removal must be used, which will prevent its accumulation in the vicinity of any room where blood or serum is collected or handled.

(4) An adequate number of efficient sterilizers must be provided for the sterilization of all glass-ware or other apparatus with which the serum may come into contact in the course of its preparation.

(5) All processes to which the serum is subjected during and after its collection from the animal, must be designed to preserve its sterility, but in the case of artificially concentrated sera, it shall suffice that the process of concentration is conducted with scrupulous cleanliness and in such a manner as to avoid unnecessary or dangerous contamination.

(6) The laboratories in which the testing of the sera for potency, sterility and freedom from abnormal toxicity are carried out must be adequate for the purpose. An adequate supply of animals for use in such tests and suitable housing for such animals must be provided.

(7) Provision must be made for complying with any special conditions which may be laid down in this Schedule relating to the production and issue of the particular serum, in respect of which the licence is granted.

4. Unhealthy or infected animals.—If an animal used in the production of sera is found to be suffering from an infection, except one produced by living organisms against which it is being immunized, or shows signs of serious or persistent ill-health not reasonably attributable to the process of immunization, the licensee shall immediately report the matter to the licensing authority and shall, if the authority orders an inspection and the inspector so directs, cause such animal to be killed and a post-mortem examination of it to be made, and take steps to prevent any serum obtained from the animal being sold or offered for sale until permission is given by the authority. If the result of the post-mortem examination is such as to bring under suspicion the health of any of the other animals used for the production of sera, the licensing authority may prohibit the use of those animals for the production of sera or may take such other steps as may be necessary to prevent the issue of sera which may be dangerous to human health:

Provided that in a case of emergency the person in charge of the establishment may order the destruction of an animal used in the production of sera and suspected of infection, and shall in that case give notice forthwith to the licensing authority and shall permit an inspector to be present at the post-mortem examination.

*NOTE.—Broth may preferably be made by the digestion of meat with trypsin (Douglas's broth or Hartley's modification thereof).

tests, as applied by him, will detect the presence of such bacteria in the ligature (suture) as ready for issue with a certainty at least equal to that afforded by the application of the tests prescribed in the above-mentioned articles, the licensing authority may approve the use of such tests in the place of the tests so prescribed; but, in that event, the authority may at any time withdraw such approval and require the manufacturer to carry out the prescribed tests;

(e) the tubes of culture medium containing the sample shall be incubated at 37°C. for 12 days, and examined daily for the growth of bacteria;

C. LIQUOR ADRENALINE HYDROCHLORIDI (1-1,000 SOL.), FOR PARENTERAL ADMINISTRATION.

Proper name.—Liquor Adrenalinae Hydrochloridi is a sterile solution of Adrenaline in Normal saline and Hydrochloric acid, containing in each 100 c.c. not less than 0·90 Gm. and not more than 0·110 Gm. $C_9H_{13}O_3N$.

Standard Preparation.—The standard preparation is a quantity of Adrenaline, B.P. which satisfies all the tests for purity specified in the British Pharmacopœia. The optical rotation of a 4 per cent. w/v solution of Standard Adrenaline in N/1 Hydrochloric acid, should be between ·50 to ·53 degrees.

Test for potency.—A suitable solution of adrenaline hydrochloride injected intravenously into a cat or a dog by the methods described below produces a rise in the systolic blood-pressure of the animal corresponding to that produced by an equal amount of a solution of Adrenaline B. P.

(i) Preparation of the solution for the test.—The following method is suggested:—Weigh accurately about 0·050 Gm. of standard Adrenaline, dissolve it in 5 c.c. of N/10 Hydrochloric acid and dilute this to 50 c.c. by the addition of distilled water, thus making a 1 in 1,000 solution. This solution must be recently prepared, otherwise it deteriorates. It will keep for a short time if preserved in hard glass containers in a refrigerator, but it must be discarded if any signs of deterioration, such as discolouration are observed.

Suitable dilutions of the standard Adrenaline solutions may then be made in physiological saline for comparison with an equivalent dilution of Liq. Adrenaline Hydrochloridi to be tested.

(ii) Methods of Comparison of Potency.—Either of the following methods may be adopted:—

(A) For the purpose of the assay a full grown cat, preferably male, should be used. The cat should be anaesthetised with a suitable anaesthetic, the spinal chord should be divided and the brain destroyed, the respiration being maintained artificially. The bloodpressure is estimated by inserting a cannula into the carotid artery and connecting the same with a mercury manometer which records on a moving drum. The injections are made into the exposed femoral vein. The blood-pressure must be low and must not vary before experiments are started.

Determine the amount of standard solution necessary to cause a sub-maximal rise in blood-pressure by injecting intravenously varying doses of the solution at regular intervals and after a satisfactory dose has been ascertained, the uniformity of reaction, should be tested by the injection of two or more doses of equal size. If these injections produce approximately equal increases in blood-pressure, alternate injections of the solution to be tested and of the standard are made carrying the amount of the unknown until two or more successive injections raised the blood-pressure to the same height, indicating that the amount of active agent is the same in doses used. From the results thus obtained, the strength of the unknown solution may be determined and adjusted.

(B) For the purpose of the assay, a dog of medium size should be used. The animal should be anaesthetised with a suitable anaesthetic and maintained under artificial respiration. It is prepared for blood-pressure estimations by inserting a cannula into the carotid artery and connecting the same with a mercury manometer which records on a moving drum. The injections are made into the exposed femoral vein. Before the test is made, in case any muscular movement such as twitching is present, the dog should receive by intravenous injection a sufficient dose of curare, but if the animal is deeply anaesthetised, this is not necessary. The dog should also receive a sufficient dose of atropine sulphate (from 0·001 Gm. to 0·002 Gm.), to paralyse the vagi, this paralysis being proved by electrical stimulation. Injections must be made at regular intervals of approximately 5 minutes.

Determine the amount of standard solution necessary to cause a rise in blood-pressure from 30 to 60 mm. of mercury by injecting intravenously varying doses of the solution and after a satisfactory dose has been ascertained, the uniformity of re-action should be tested by the injection of two or more doses of equal size. If these injections produce approximately equal increases in blood-pressure, alternate injections of the solution to be tested and of the standard are made varying the amount of the unknown until two or more successive injections raised the blood-pressure to the same height indicating that the amount of active agent is the same in the doses used. From the results thus obtained, the strength of the unknown solution may be determined and adjusted.

Containers.—The container shall be made of non-alkaline amber coloured, resistance glass.

Storage.—Liq. Adrenalinae, Hydrochloridi shall be kept in small, well-filled, well-closed, bottles or ampoules, protected from light. If the solution becomes brown in colour or contains a precipitate, it must be rejected. A suitable preservative may be added to the solution.

Labelling.—The label of the container shall indicate:—

1. Strength of the solution.
2. Date of manufacture and date after which it is not intended to be used.
3. Dose (0·12 to 0·5 mil. by injection).

(D) PREPARATIONS CONTAINING ANY VITAMINS IN A FORM NOT TO BE ADMINISTERED PARENTERALLY.

Tests.—Drugs containing vitamins shall be submitted to the tests prescribed in the British Pharmacopœia or the United States Pharmacopœia.

(E) PREPARATIONS CONTAINING LIVER EXTRACT IN ANY FORM NOT TO BE ADMINISTERED PARENTERALLY.

Tests.—Drugs containing liver extract shall be submitted to the tests prescribed in the British Pharmacopœia or the United States Pharmacopœia.

(F) PREPARATIONS CONTAINING HORMONES IN ANY FORM NOT TO BE ADMINISTERED PARENTERALLY.

Tests.—Drugs containing hormones shall be submitted to the tests prescribed by the Licensing Authority.

PART XII.

1. General.—For the purposes of this Schedule, any test or method of testing described in the British Pharmacopœia shall be deemed to be a method approved by the licensing authority.

A BILL

to provide for the restoration of the agricultural lands to the tenants alienated by them during the year 1943 owing to the prevailing economic distress.

WHEREAS it is expedient to provide for the restoration of the agricultural lands to the tenants alienated by them during the year 1943 as a result of the prevailing economic distress.

It is hereby enacted as follows :—

1. (1) This Act may be called the Bengal Alienation of Agricultural Land Act, 1944.

(2) It extends to the whole of Bengal.

(3) It shall come into force on such date as the Provincial Government may by notification in the Official Gazette appoint on this behalf.

2. In this Act, unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context :—

(1) "Collector" means the Collector of a district or any other officer appointed by the Provincial Government to discharge the functions of a Collector under this Act and includes the Deputy Collector of a subdivision empowered on this behalf,

(2) " prescribed " means prescribed by rules under this Act,

(3) " tenant " includes a raiyat, under-raiyat and a tenure-holder,

(4) " tenant ", " holding ", " improvement " and " complete usufructuary mortgage " have the same meanings as they have in the Bengal Tenancy Act, 1885.

3. The provisions of this Act shall have effect notwithstanding anything contained to the contrary in any other law for the time being in force.

4. If on or after the 1st January, 1943, and before the 1st January, 1944, a tenant has transferred any holding by sale or any consideration the actual amount or value of which that passed does not exceed 500 rupees in rural areas and one thousand rupees in urban areas and if,—

(a) he applies to the Collector within three years from the date on which this Act comes into force for the restoration of such holding to his ownership and possession ; as he could not have maintained himself or his family except by making such alienation of his holding ; and

(b) he deposits with the Collector the actual amount of such consideration or its value that passed together with interest on such amount at the rate of rupee one and annas nine per centum per annum from the date of his receipt of such consideration and the amount of any compensation for improvements effected to the holding allowed by the Collector and determined by him less the amount of the net income derived from such holding by the person in possession of the holding as a result of such alienation ;

the Collector shall make an order in writing restoring such holding to the ownership and possession of such tenant.

The Bengal Alienation of Agricultural Land Bill, 1944.

(Clauses 5—13.)

5. When the Collector makes an order under section 4 restoring any holding to the ownership and possession of a tenant such order shall have effect on the 1st Baisakh next following the date of the order and if before that date the person in possession of the holding has not yielded possession of the holding to such tenant the Collector may of his own motion and shall on the application of the tenant, eject such person and place such tenant in possession of the holding.

6. If the transferee of any holding in respect of which an order under section 4 has been made has not alienated his holding and is in possession thereof the amount deposited with the Collector under clause (c) of that section shall be paid to the transferee.

7. If the transferee of such holding has alienated the holding prior to the date of the order under section 4 the amount deposited with the Collector shall be paid—to the person in possession of the holding;

(b) in the case of alienation by means of a bona fide lease for valuable consideration to the transferee and the person in possession of the holding in such proportion as the Collector may deem fair and equitable.

8. Instead of applying under section 4 for the restoration of his holding a tenant may at his own option apply for the conversion of the transfer by the sale of his holding into a complete usufructuary mortgage and in such case the Collector shall make an order in writing converting the said transfer by sale into a complete usufructuary mortgage with the transferee or person in possession as mortgagee as for a period of ten years or such a shorter period as in the circumstances of the particular case is in the opinion of the Collector justified.

9. The period so determined by the Collector shall be commenced from the time when the property was possessed by the transferee at the very first instance and it would continue to the end of that period if the tenant to whom it would restore does not redeem the property by paying back the amount so determined due for that remaining period by calculation deducting the fair and equitable amount of income according to the prescribed manner for which the property was enjoyed otherwise the liability for the payment of such amount shall be deemed to be extinguished on the expiry of the said period.

10. If a tenant has not availed or cannot avail the opportunity of any section of this Act his case would be treated as a complete usufructuary mortgage for a period not exceeding ten years after which it would be treated as fully redeemed property and the liability shall be deemed to have been extinguished.

11. On the expiry of the period of the mortgage if the mortgagee does not yield possession of the mortgaged holding to the tenant the Collector may of his own motion and shall on application of the tenant, eject the mortgagee and place the tenant in possession of the holding.

12. Neither the High Court nor any civil court shall have jurisdiction in any matter which the Collector is empowered to dispose of under this Act.

13. The Provincial Government may make rules for carrying out the purposes of this Act.

(2) No allowance payable under section 3 shall, whether it has become so payable or not, be liable to attachment under any process of any Court.

Amendment of section 7 of Act XXIII of 1933.

5. In sub-section (1) of section 7 of the Murshidabad Estate Administration Act, 1933— XXIII of 1933.

(a) after clause first, the following clause shall be inserted, namely :—

"Secondly, the allowances, if any, payable under section 3 of the Murshidabad Act, 1944"; and (b) for the words "secondly", "thirdly" and "fourthly" the words "thirdly", "fourthly" and "fifthly" shall respectively be substituted.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

Under section 5 of the Murshidabad Act, 1891, all property belonging to the Murshidabad Estate shall descend and be enjoyed for ever by the Nawab Bahadur of Murshidabad for the time being. The succession to the titles of the Nawab Bahadur of Murshidabad and Amir-ul-Omrah is governed by the custom of primogeniture. The daughters of the Nawab Bahadur and his younger sons have, therefore, no right to the Estate properties. It is considered necessary that there should be some provision for their maintenance to keep up the dignity of the family of the Nawab Bahadur after his demise. The Bill has been framed with this object in view.

NOTIFICATION.

No. 632L.C.—21st April, 1944.—The following report of the Select Committee on the Bengal Diseases of Animals Bill, 1944, by the Hon'ble Khan Bahadur Saiyed Muazzamuddin Hosain, M.L.C., with the Bill embodying amendments recommended by the Committee, is hereby published for general information.

Secy. to the Bengal Legis. Council.

REPORT OF THE SELECT COMMITTEE ON THE BENGAL DISEASES OF ANIMALS BILL, 1944

(as introduced in the Bengal Legislative Council by the Hon'ble Khan Bahadur Saiyed Muazzamuddin Hosain, M.L.C.).

We, the members of the Select Committee to which the Bengal Diseases of Animals Bill, 1944, was referred by a motion carried in the Council on the 23rd March, 1944, have the honour to submit this our Final Report with the Bill embodying amendments recommended by us. Matters recommended by us to be omitted have been printed in italics and enclosed in square brackets, and all new matters recommended by us to be inserted have been underlined.

2. The Committee met for the first time on the 3rd April, 1944, and concluded their sitting on the 4th April, 1944.

3. The Bill has not been altered by our recommendation to an extent requiring republication.

4. The Bill was published before introduction in the Calcutta Gazette of the 27th January, 1944, under rule 48 of the Bengal Legislative Council Procedure Rules.

5. The changes made by us are detailed below:—

Clause 2.—Sub-clause (1).—We have included "bullocks" and "dogs" in the definition of animals in order to bring these animals under the purview of the Bill.

Sub-clause (2).—We have excluded glanders and farcy as these diseases are covered by the Glanders and Farcy Act, 1899.

We have also excluded the disease called "surra" from the purview of the Bill as this is a disease of the horses which have been excluded from the present Bill.

Sub-clause (6).—We consider it desirable that the officers of the Bengal Civil Veterinary Department who may be authorised by the Government to carry on the duties of the Veterinary Assistants under this Act should in the opinion of the Provincial Government possess suitable qualifications in veterinary medicine and we have re-drafted this sub-clause accordingly.

Clause 3.—Sub-clause (1).—We consider it desirable that a Veterinary Practitioner should report the fact of an animal being infective not only when he comes to know of it in course of his veterinary practice but also when he has reasons to believe so otherwise and this sub-clause has been re-drafted accordingly. We have also made certain drafting changes.

We further think it desirable to provide in this sub-clause that any person other than the Veterinary Practitioner referred to above may also report the fact of an animal being infective where he has reasons to believe so.

Sub-clause (4).—We think it necessary that a copy of the report received by the Veterinary Assistant under this sub-clause should be forwarded by him to the Subdivisional Magistrate of the area concerned.

Clause 4.—We have made slight drafting change.

Clause 6.—Sub-clause (1).—We have re-drafted this sub-clause to make it more explicit.

Sub-clause (2).—We consider it desirable that the carriage of any animal or thing referred to in sub-clause (1) through an infected area should also be allowed in cases where such animals and things are carried by any mechanically propelled vessel approved by the Government and the sub-clause has been amended accordingly.

Clause 7.—Sub-clause (1).—We have made slight drafting change.

Sub-clause (2).—We have omitted the provision of branding an animal as we think such a provision undesirable.

Clause 8.—Sub-clause (1).—We have made drafting changes and have also provided for the seizure of animals in those cases where the order under sub-clause (1) to the persons concerned are not complied with within a reasonable time.

Sub-clause (2).—We think it proper to provide that the agent of the owner of the animal seized under the proviso to sub-clause (1) may also apply for the return of such an animal.

We think it proper that the cost of isolation, segregation and treatment of the animal seized under the proviso to sub-clause (1) of clause 8, should be borne by the Government. The sub-clause has been amended accordingly.

Clauses 11, 14-16.—We have made some necessary drafting changes.

Clause 19.—We think it desirable that the arrests of persons under this clause should be made by the Police Officer on the request in writing of a Veterinary Assistant and the clause has been amended accordingly.

Clause 24.—Sub-clause (1).—We think it desirable that the rules should be made by the Government under this clause subject to the condition of previous publication and we have amended this sub-clause accordingly.

Sub-clause (2) (c).—We have made certain drafting changes.

New paragraph (cc).—We have added this new paragraph for the determination of the manner of marking animals under sub-clause (2) of clause 7 of the Bill. This is consequential to the change made in sub-clause (2) in clause 7.

Sub-clause (2) (e).—We have made slight drafting changes consequential to the change in sub-clause 8(2).

Note.—The signatures of the following members could not be obtained up to the time of printing the Report, namely:—

(1) Khan Bahadur M. Abdul Momin, C.I.E.,
(2) Mr. Haridas Majumdar,
(3) Mr. Sultanuddin Ahmed,
(4) Mr. Khorshed Alam Chowdhury, and
(5) Mr. Moazzemali Chowdhury.

Minute of Dissent by Mr. Lalit Chandra Das, M.L.C.

The provisions of the Glanders and Farcy Act, 1899, can be extended to apply to horses, camels, asses and mules in Bengal by a notification in the official Gazette. So, horses, camels, asses and mules were not brought within the purview of this Bill—The Bengal Diseases of Animals Bill, 1944. Vide Statement of Objects and Reasons of this Bill.

2. Section 20 of the abovementioned Act gives protection to persons empowered to act under it when their acts are done in good faith. Section 23 of this Bill follows that section and gives protection similarly.

3. The Glanders and Farcy Act, 1899, while giving protection to officers for acts done in good faith lays down in clear and emphatic terms by section 12 of that Act the liability to punishment of officers authorized to act under it when their acts are done unnecessarily and vexatiously. Curiously enough there is no such provision in this Bill although care was taken to enact section 23 which indemnifies officers for anything which is done in good faith. A provision similar to section 12 of the Glanders and Farcy Act, 1899, ought to find a place in this Bill or section 23 of this Bill should be omitted altogether.

4. Most villages in Bengal are often full of party strife and individual animosities. The provisions of this Bill may be used to satisfy a private or party grudge. At the same time, Veterinary Officers may also take advantage of this Bill when passed into Act and use it as an engine of oppression and as a means of unlawful gain. I suggest therefore, following the lines in section 12 of the Glanders and Farcy Act, 1899, that "whoever being a Veterinary Assistant or Practitioner or any officer of the Bengal Civil Veterinary Department duly authorized by the Provincial Government to carry on the duties of the Veterinary Assistant under this Act vexatiously and unnecessarily enters or searches any field, building, house or other place or seizes or detains any animals on the pretence that it is diseased or orders destruction of it; unnecessarily and vexatiously causes any other loss, injury, detriment or inconvenience or unnecessarily and vexatiously causes the carcass of any such animal to be exhumed shall be punished with imprisonment for a term which may extend to six months or with fine which may extend to Rs. 500 or with both:

Provided no prosecution shall be instituted after expiry of three months from the date on which the offence has been committed."

5. I am of opinion that section 19 of the Bill should be omitted. No power should be given to any Police Officer to arrest without warrant or without summons issued from any court.

6. Section 22 of the Bill is not only unnecessary but positively mischievous. No such bar of claim to compensation should be expressly laid down. Its retention would encourage evil acts under cover of good faith.

7. In sub-clause (2) of clause 6 of the Bill, so far as I remember, after the words "by rail" the words "or by steamer or any other mechanically propelled vessel approved by the Government" were inserted by the Select Committee. The words underlined should be there in the Bill.

Minute of dissent by Mr. Shrish Chandra Chakraverti, M.L.C.

I support Mr. Lalit Chandra Das's Note of Dissent and subject to same I have signed the Report of the Select Committee.

[Note.—All matters omitted by the Select Committee have been printed in italics and enclosed in square brackets, and all new matters inserted have been underlined.]

The Bengal Diseases of Animals Bill, 1944.

(Clauses 4—7.)

Duty to segregate infective animals.

4. Every owner or person in charge or having control of an animal who has reason to believe that such animal is infective shall as far as may be possible in the circumstances sergregate such animal in a place apart from all other animals which are not infective and shall take all possible steps to prevent any animal which is not infective from coming into contact with or approaching near to such animal.

Declaration of infected areas.

5. (1) The Provincial Government or such officer as it may authorise in this behalf may by notification published in the manner prescribed declare any area in which any contagious disease has broken out, or any area within which in the opinion of the Provincial Government, or such officer, there is a danger of the spread of any such disease, to be an infected area.

(2) Every notification under sub-section (1) shall specify the limits of the area which is declared to be an infected area and shall also specify the contagious disease in respect of which the area is declared to be an infected area.

Prohibition of movement of animals, etc., into or out of infected areas.

[6. (1) Save in accordance with the conditions of a licence granted by a Veterinary Assistant no person shall remove any animal, alive or dead, or any product of any animal (including its excreta) or any part of any animal or any fodder, bedding, harness or other thing used in connection with an animal, and no person owning or having charge of any animal shall allow such animal to proceed from any place within an infected area to any place outside such area or from any place outside an infected area to any place within such area.]

6. (1) Save in accordance with the conditions of a licence granted by Verterinery Assistant—

(a) no person shall remove any animal, alive or dead, or any product of any animal (including its excreta) or any part of any animal or any fodder, bedding, harness or other thing used in connection with an animal, and

(b) no person owning or having charge or control of any animal shall allow such animal to proceed, from any place within an infected area to any place outside such area or from any place outside an infected area to any place within such area.

(2) Nothing in sub-section (1) shall prevent the carriage by railway or by any mechanically propelled vessel of a type approved by the Provincial Government of any animal or thing referred to in that sub-section through an infected area :

Provided that if such animal or thing at any stage during its carriage by railway or such vessel through an infected area is unloaded therein it shall not be removed therefrom save in accordance with the provisions of sub-section (1).

Preventive vaccination or inoculation in infected areas.

7. (1) In all cases in which preventive vaccination or inoculation is possible and practicable against the contagious disease in respect of which an area has been declared to be an infected area, the Veterinary Assistant shall vaccinate or inoculate, as the case may be, such kinds or classes of animals in that area as may be prescribed in respect of such disease and the owner or person in charge [(if any)] or having control of every such animal shall render every facility and assistance to him in carrying out such vaccination or inoculation.

(2) When a Veterinary Assistant vaccinates or inoculates any animal he may for the purpose of identification also [brand or] mark such animal in such manner as [he may deem expedient] may be prescribed.

(Clauses 8—12.)

Compulsory segregation and treatment of animals in infected areas.

8. (1) Where a Veterinary Assistant, after due examination of an animal and such enquiry into the circumstances of the case as may be necessary, is of the opinion that such animal is infective, he may by order in writing direct the owner or person in charge or having control of such animal,—

(a) to keep it where it is for the time being, or to remove it or allow it to be removed to such place of isolation or segregation as may be specified in the order;

(b) to subject it to such treatment as may be specified in the order; and such owner or person in charge or having control of such animal shall comply with such order:

Provided that where there is no person in charge or having control of the animal and the owner is either unknown and cannot be ascertained without undue delay, or the order cannot be communicated to him without undue delay or the owner or person in charge or having control of the animal fails to comply with the order within such time as in the opinion of the Veterinary Assistant is reasonable, the Veterinary Assistant shall seize the animal and remove it to a place of isolation or segregation and may subject it to such treatment as may be necessary.

(2) If the owner of an animal seized under the proviso to sub-section (1) or his authorised agent applies in the prescribed manner for the return of such animal to his possession, the animal shall be so returned if such owner or his authorised agent pays any expenses, calculated in the prescribed manner, incurred for the [isolation, segregation,] upkeep [and treatment] of the animal up to the date of its release:

Provided that on the release of the animal the owner or his authorised agent, as the case may be, shall comply with any order which the Veterinary Assistant may see fit to issue under sub-section (1).

(3) If the owner of an animal seized under the proviso to sub-section (1) or his authorised agent does not apply for the release of the animal under sub-section (2) and the animal is, in the opinion of the Veterinary Assistant, no longer likely to infect any other animals with the contagious disease in respect of which it was seized, the Veterinary Assistant shall send the animal to the nearest cattle pound or deal with it in such other manner as may be prescribed.

(4) Notwithstanding anything in sub-sections (1), (2) and (3) if the Veterinary Assistant, after due examination of any animal, certifies in writing that such animal is affected with any of such contagious diseases as may be prescribed in this behalf, he may destroy the animal or deal with it in such other manner as may be prescribed.

Disinfection of buildings, etc., in infected areas.

9. Subject to such rules as may be prescribed, the Veterinary Assistant may by order in writing, require the owner, occupier or person in charge of any building, yard, vessel or vehicle in which an infective animal has been kept to have such building, yard, vehicle or vessel disinfected, and the internal fittings thereof and other things found therein to be disinfected or destroyed, in such manner and to such extent as may be specified in the order, and such owner, occupier or person in charge shall comply with such order.

(2) In particular and without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing power such rules may provide for,—

(a) the manner in which a report required in sub-section (4) of section 3 shall be made ;

(b) the manner in which a notification issued under sub-section (1) of section 5 may be published ;

(c) the kinds or classes of animals which shall be vaccinated or inoculated in respect of each contagious disease referred to in sub-section (1) of section 7 ;

(cc) the manner in which an animal may be marked under sub-section (2) of section 7 ;

(d) the manner in which an application under sub-section (2) of section 8 shall be made ;

(e) the manner in which [any expenses] the expense referred to in sub-section (2) of section 8 shall be calculated

(i) the tests to which an animal may be subjected under section 11 ;

(j) the rules subject to which a post mortem examination of an animal may be made under section 12 ;

(k) the manner in which an animal may be buried under sub-section (1) of section 13 ;

(l) the rules subject to which a Veterinary Assistant may take action under section 17.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

The high mortality among cattle in Bengal due to epidemic diseases is well known, but there is at present no statute in this province to control them. Action taken on a voluntary basis cannot be effective, as restriction on the movement of diseased cattle from one place to another, their segregation, and mass inoculation of healthy stock in affected areas are among the measures which must be taken to bring about a speedy control of the epidemic diseases. This Bill has accordingly been prepared vesting Government with powers to undertake the necessary control measures.

2. The Glanders and Farcy Act, 1899, already in force in this province applies to horses, camels, asses and mules. Under section 2(1) of that Act, its provisions can be extended to apply to these animals affected with any dangerous epidemic disease by a notification issued by the Provincial Government in the Official Gazette. It is not, therefore, considered necessary to extend the provisions of the present Bill to horses, camels, asses and mules.

(2) Where the insurer pays for a total loss, either of the whole, or, in the case of goods, of any apportionable part, of the subject-matter insured, he thereupon becomes entitled to take over the interest of the insured person in whatever may remain of the subject-matter so paid for, and he is thereby subrogated to all the rights and remedies of the insured person in and in respect of that subject-matter as from the time of the casualty causing the loss.

(3) Where the insurer pays for a partial loss, he acquires no title to the subject-matter insured, or such part of it as may remain, but he is thereupon subrogated to all rights and remedies of the insured person as from the time of the casualty causing the loss, in so far as the insured person has been indemnified by such payment for the loss.

(4) Nothing in clause (e) of section 6 shall affect the provisions of this section."
